Speed Work on Draft Cards as U. S. Sets Nov. 18 for First Call

Richland's 3 Boards Push Sorting of Registrants, Assigning Numbers; Find Few Forgot to Register In County While Hundreds In Ohio Did.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(UP)—President Roosevelt today signed legislation which, in effect, will give army trainees under the selective service act a moratorium on the payment of debts and other obligations.

Richland county's three draft boards were speeding their work of sorting selective service registration cards and assigning serial numbers today so the county lists will be ready for the first call to camp on Nov. 18.

Army officials said about 30,000 draftees will be called on that date and 60,000 more on Dec. 2. Officials pointed out that about one man in every 20 of the 17,000,000 who registered Wednesday will go to camp within the next eight months.

The Richland county draft boards were also lining up tardy registrants today and correcting errors in addresses on registration cards. There were 9,396 registered in Richland county.

Board members explained that while most of the registrations were accurately handled, the addresses of a number of men living near the county line were incomplete, especially where rural mail routes extend into a neighboring county. To correct the addresses, it will be necessary to contact postoffices or the registrants.

Although it was estimated that hundreds of men of eligible age forgot or neglected to register in Ohio, the number was comparatively small in Richland county, election board officials said.

The tardy registrants must go to the draft board in their district to register and their excuse for being late must be satisfactory to the board if they escape a penalty. Registrations will be received until the day of the national drawing.

Election board officials said only a few men have come to the board's office in the courthouse to report they failed to register. Most of them said they were away from home, forgot to register, or were moving to another district and didn't know what to do about registering.

It was announced today in Washington that the huge lottery at which draftees' numbers will be drawn will be held between Oct. 25 and Oct. 29.

The men whose numbers are drawn from the big draft hopper in Washington will be first in line for training. They must fill out an extensive questionnaire which the local draft board will use for classifying the men, or determining the order in which they will be called.

Men who have registered were advised by draft officials to watch their district draft board headquarters for a list of assigned serial numbers which will be posted within a few days.

In Richland county, draft board No. 1, serving the First, Second Third and Fourth wards in Mansfield, will have headquarters in the Memorial building, Park avenue west. The No. 2, board, serving wards Five and Six, and Madison township, will be at the American Legion home, while board No. 3, serving the rest of the county, will be in the appeals court room at the courthouse.

It is expected that cards will be sorted and numbers will be assigned to Richland county men by next Monday or Tuesday.

Total registrations in Ohio fell about 19,000 below the predicted figure, but Adj Gen. Gilson D. Light, head of the state draft setup, said the number of registrants may be boosted when the cards of

GIRL KILLED

Two Injured Seriously In London, O., Collision.

LONDON —(UP)— Miss Helen Riley, 18, Springfield, was killed and two other persons injured seriously early today in a head-on automobile collision near the main gate of the London state prison farm.

Miss Riley was riding in a car with Lucile Lewis, Springfield, and six civilian conservation corps enrollees.

Charles Morgan, of the CCC, was in critical condition at the army hospital at Fort Hayes, Columbus. None of the other six occupants of the car was hurt badly.

Austin Cox, 45, London, driver and only occupant of the other machine, was taken to a Springfield hospital in serious condition.

NORSE AROUSED

Stage Demonstrations Against Nazi-Dominated Government.

STOCKHOLM—(UP)—Press reports from Oslo, Norway, said today that demonstrations against the Nazi-dominated Norwegian government are becoming so serious that a state of alarm may be proclaimed.

Authorities in many cities throughout Norway have forbidden traffic in the streets during certain hours in order to cope with the demonstrations, the reports said.

OFFERS GIFT OF PARKING METERS

Canton Firm Wants to Give Mansfield 75 of Them For Testing Purposes.

Is it legal for Mansfield to accept an outright gift of 75 parking meters, including free mechanical service?

City Solicitor Marion D. Ward was asked today to give Mayor W. J. Locke an opinion on the legality of such a gift. The mayor said today he would accept the offer of the Union Metal Manufacturing company of Canton to install 75 of its new meters if Ward gives a favorable opinion.

The Canton company's meter is new on the market and as yet untried. Locke was favorably impressed with it when meter types were being studied for the city and the company's bid was considerably lower than any of the others, but city officials were reluctant to try a machine that had not been tested by any other city.

The company this week offered to install 75 of its meters and to service the machines on all mechanical trouble, to give them to the city outright, merely as an opportunity to prove the practicability of the meters.

Locke said he was interested in the event that Mansfield may buy more meters in the future if the

Hiccoughs for 10 Days, Big Prairie Man, 77, 'Critical'

BIG PRAIRIE — Weakened by 10 days of continuous hiccoughing, Harley Pennell 77, fought for his life against both hiccoughs and pneumonia at his home here today.

Pneumonia developed yesterday physicians said, after a persistent case of hiccoughs which treatments had failed to stop.

This is the third consecutive October in which Pennell, a retired railroader, has suffered a prolonged hiccough attack, members of his family said today.

As is usual in such cases, friends and neighbors—and total strangers too—proffered advice on how to stop hiccoughs, but members of the family declined to say whether any of the suggestions had been followed.

Physicians administered drugs to enable Pennell to sleep but the hiccoughs continued while he dozed lightly.

In the past two days, the hiccough attack has slackened somewhat, although it has not entirely stopped. He will hiccough four or five times a minute and then experience a lull for about five minutes.

Pennell has grown steadily weaker since the pneumonia developed, and his condition today was reported to be "critical."

BECK DETAINED.

Test Run Without Incident as Britain Abandons Jap Appeasement.

BULLETIN

HONGKONG—(AP)—The headquarters of the Japanese south China fleet announced that Japanese naval aircraft today attacked Kunming, southwestern China terminus of the newly reopened Burma road. It was the first Japanese action connected with the road reopening.

(By International News Service)

LASHIO, Burma — Two hundred trucks, vanguard of 2,000 that will carry 100,000 tons of supplies to China's defense forces, were reported to have reached Kunming today after a speedy trip over the 700-mile Burma road, reopened by Britain in the face of threatened Japanese reprisals.

Drivers reported the journey was "without incident," although Japan had threatened to launch air bombing attacks from bases in French Indo-China.

The 200 trucks were led by a spearhead of 60 which carried only Japanese textiles and made a "test run" in view of the Japanese warnings. The remaining trucks carried gasoline and other war materials, some from the United States.

Reopening of the Burma road led to reports that Britain also may open the Hong Kong munitions route into nationalist China.

It was estimated that no less than 2,000 trucks would be in motion along the zig-zag, mountainous highway by tonight. Hundreds, bearing arms, munitions, airplane parts and other war implements, already have passed through Lashio.

In addition to this 100,000 tons of material, another 500,000 tons, including planes, was ready to be loaded aboard 3,000 more trucks at Rangoon, where vast stores for China piled up during the three months the road was closed.

Returning from China the trucks will carry tungsten, wood, tin, seed oil, antimony, pig bristles and other Chinese products for export, principally to the United States.

Meanwhile Lashio instituted air raid precautions against possible Japanese bombing attacks. Opening of the road marked the end of Britain's policy of appeasement in the Far East.

Delay Opening Hongkong Route

HONGKONG—(INS)—In the face of Tokyo warnings that Japan would take "strong measures" if Great Britain re-opened the Hongkong supply route to China, British authorities here today unexpectedly changed their minds at

WRECK BUILDING

Two Blasts Destroy Italian Language Newspapers.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Two explosions, which Detective William Martucci said apparently were caused by "incendiary bombs," early today wrecked a two-story brick building where several Italian language newspapers are printed.

Fire quickly followed the blasts. The flames swept through the structure into an adjoining plant.

The blasts, about 3:30 a. m., (EST), shattered windows of homes near the publishing building, at 803 Washington avenue in the heart of a populous Italian district.

Amondo Forte, owner of the plant, said he could give no immediate explanation of the blasts.

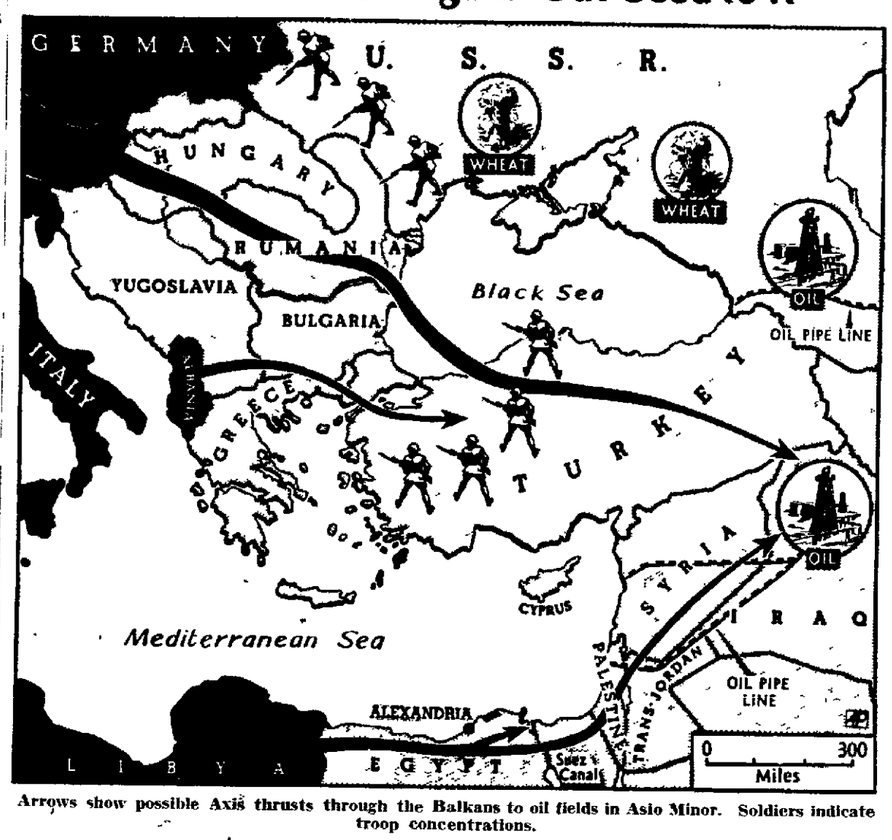
At Crossroads Again--But Used to It



Arrows show possible Axis thrusts through the Balkans to oil fields in Asia Minor. Soldiers indicate troop concentrations.

The Balkans have been standing at the crossroads for 2,000 years. That has been their trouble. For when a conqueror wants to go places in Europe his path leads there sooner or later.

The first World war started in the Balkans. This war didn't start there but inevitably it got around to one of the main Balkan roads.

Along those roads in centuries past have trod many peoples. In the Balkans have been successive Greek, Roman, Gothic, Byzantine, Slav and Turkish empires. Today the Italians, Germans and Russians struggle to extend "spheres of influence" in the Balkans.

The bar to any extension of influence is chiefly one of transportation. A hodge podge of mountains bulges up in the center of the Balkan peninsula. It isolates many groups of people who retain old habits, old loyalties and old languages.

Generally the Balkans are agricultural regions. They are peopled by sturdy peasants who fight hard when necessary, work hard but produce comparatively little because of crude agricultural methods.

In some respects it is a frontier but it maintains 75 million people in a region somewhat more than twice the size of Texas, if Turkey be included.

German Barges Heavily Bombed

Air Ministry Finally Admits Victory Claimed on Sept. 16 By Royal Air Force Fliers.

BULLETIN

DOVER, England—(UP)—German big guns on the French coast fired into the Dover area just before noon today. Salvoes were fired spasmodically at intervals of 10 and 30 minutes.

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(INS Staff Correspondent)

LONDON—Great Britain has defeated the first attempt by the German army to invade England, the air ministry divulged in a dramatic announcement today.

The attempt was made on Sept. 16, when a large number of crack German shock troops embarked from continental channel ports and headed for English shores, the air ministry disclosed.

Advised of the invasion move within a few minutes after it began, British Royal Air Force bombers roared across the channel and launched a terrific attack against the Nazi troop ships.

The ferocity of the R. A. F. assault was so great that the Germans were forced to abandon the attack.

British quarters indicated that the R. A. F. while being advised of important ship movements in the German held channel ports on that day, was not actually aware at the time that an invasion attempt was being made.

It was thought that the troop ships were probably being prepared for a possible invasion attempt. Nevertheless, the R. A. F. bombers rained down tons of high explosives on the ships and also swooped low to sweep their decks with a withering hail of machine-gun fire.

The British attack was so fierce that the German armada was broken up and those ships which had started out were forced to flee back to port.

The British flyers thought at the time it was just part of another day's work. Now, according to the air ministry announcement, information has been received from a neutral source disclosing that German troops had actually been embarked on those ships for an invasion of England but the plans were not carried out because of the sustained offensive by the R. A. F.

The information received from the neutral source did not mention whether the Germans had suffered any heavy casualties at the time.

However, it was recalled that about the time this attempt was

Editor's Note — Reports of the defeat of a Nazi invasion fleet reached America last month at about the time the British air ministry now reveals the bombing of German barges actually occurred. At that time, however, the British government issued flat denials that an invasion had been attempted, although for several days, stories that bodies of German soldiers were being washed up on the coast were passed by British censors.

Roosevelt Plans Four Speeches; Willkie Hits New Deal Spending

DEBATES ISSUE WITH WALLACE

GOP Nominee Asserts Private Capital Scared Out of Enterprise.

By THEODORE F. KOOP

ABOARD THE WILLKIE TRAIN IN MISSOURI — (AP) — Wendell L. Willkie, taking issue with Henry A. Wallace, Democratic vice presidential candidate, contended today that "under the New Deal private capital has been scared out of productive enterprise."

In a speech prepared for a rally at Jefferson City, Willkie quoted Wallace as saying that such a situation would result if a Republican administration cut down on federal spending.

"Well, let's see how private capital has been flowing into new enterprise under the New Deal," said

QUICK DRAFT

Registrant Called Immediately for Jury Service.

APPLETON, Wis.—(AP)—Shortly after Lester Asmus registered for military service, the telephone rang and a voice told him that he "had been chosen for duty and must report immediately."

Assured it was no joke, he hurried to the courthouse and found he actually had been drafted—for jury duty.

PATRIOTISM

Flag Raiser Gets Jolt From High Tension Line.

MUNCIE, Ind. — (AP) — John Short's patriotic impulse short-circuited.

The 56-year-old gasoline station owner went to the roof of his place to put up a flag pole. The pole fell onto a 2,300-volt wire. Short was knocked unconscious. It took police and firemen 45 minutes to revive him.

WINS ELECTION

O. S. U. Executive Named Head of Welfare Conference.

COLUMBUS—(UP)— Charles C. Stillman, director of the school of social administration at Ohio State university, became president of the Ohio welfare conference today after one of the closest election contests in recent years.

He defeated Judge V. A. Bennehoff of Tiffin, 85 to 81. Bennehoff's name had been placed in nomination by petition after Stillman had been proposed unanimously by the nominating committee.

The conference selected Akron for its 1941 convention sometime after next Oct. 5.

The conference closes its golden jubilee meeting this afternoon. State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood was to speak.

LAST-MINUTE TALKS SLATED

FDR Booked at Cleveland on Saturday Night Before Election Date.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt charged to his 1940 campaign opposition today "a systematic program" of "deliberate falsification of fact" and said he would discuss "these misrepresentations" in five pre-election speeches.

In a statement read to his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt stated his opinion that the "falsification of fact" was "deliberate" rather than "unwitting" and said he would "tell the American people x x x in what respect they are false."

Reporters were told, however, to wait for the addresses to learn what he considered "misrepresentations."

There is a possibility, the Democratic nominee said, that one of the five addresses, scheduled for Washington on October 30, might be shifted to Baltimore.

Newsmen told him that the 300 From County In Mt. Vernon to Hear FDR Jr.

Nearly 300 Richland county Democrats, riding in 75 automobiles, joined the motor caravan to Mt Vernon last night to hear Franklin D Roosevelt, jr., son of the president, and Martin L Davey, jr., son of the Democratic candidate for governor, appeal for the election of their fathers Nov 5.

The two sons, Elliott and Ralph C Lutz, Democratic candidate for congress in the 17th district, spoke at a Young Democratic rally in a Mt. Vernon theater.

Scoffing at the charge that a third term for the president would lead to a dictatorship, young Roosevelt said his father "certainly has no idea of becoming a dictator and if he had wanted to be one, he could

INVISIBLE: German Raiders Hide In Clouds Over London

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Invisible in the clouds over London, a number of raiding planes were heard this afternoon after sirens signalled the first alarm of the day.

The weather, clouds here and a blackout fog on the English channel, had curtailed both British and German air operations.

Britain made two significant changes in the royal navy command today and talked of "hurrying" new, secret planes into action against the Nazis to increase the punch of her air army—both on defense and offense.

Vice Admiral John C. (Jack) Howey, a destroyer expert and a hero of Jutland, took command of the home fleet, a step generally interpreted as a forerunner of intensified sea warfare.

Admiral Sir Henry H. Harwood, hero of the battle of the River Plate, was promoted to the post of lord commissioner of the admiralty and assistant chief of naval staff.

The London press regarded both appointments as highly important.

German raiders, adopting the new technique of attacking in dozens of small groups of fighter-bombers, meanwhile subjected the London area to its longest night

DEFIANT: Turkish Radio Hits Axis Ambitions In Near East

(By Associated Press)

ISTANBUL, Turkey—Preparations for an important conference of British diplomatic representatives in the Balkan countries were reported afoot here today as the Turkish radio voiced new defiance to the Axis powers and their aspirations in the east.

Word of the impending conference was circulated following the arrival in Istanbul of George W. Rendel, British minister to Bulgaria.

The British ministers to Yugoslavia and Greece were expected to join Rendel and Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British ambassador to Turkey, in the next few days.

Axis diplomatic activity, meanwhile, was reported from Athens in the official Turkish radio, which said Premier-Dictator John Metaxas of Greece had received the German and Italian ministers yesterday. There was no hint of the subject of their talk.

In Moscow the German ambassador Count Friedrich Werner von Der Schulenburg newly returned from Berlin last night visited the Kremlin where he was understood to have conferred with Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff. The Turkish ambassador to Moscow, Haidar Aktay, was in conference with Molotoff Tuesday.)

The Turkish radio warned the Axis powers last night that if they attempted a drive across the Dardanelles to Egypt and the Suez they would find Turkey a tougher nut to crack than the Netherlands, Belgium or France.

The radio accused Germany and Italy of seeking to conquer Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece and said the Axis powers had warned Greece to reject Britain's guarantee of aid in certain conditions of attack or "she will be made to regret it."

Britons Just Shrug As Bombs Blast Homes, Mansfielder Told In Letter

Friend Says She Was In House When Explosive Hit, Wrecked It.

By REX V. HESS

Britons, crawling out from under bomb-scattered rubble, are taking the destruction of their homes with a shrug of the shoulders and a: "There's nothing much we can do about it," attitude.

This was indicated in a letter received today by Mrs. Earl Hoffman, 46 Hoffman avenue from Mrs. Theodore Wyatt of Portsmouth, England, who is known here through visits with the Hoffman family.

Mrs. Wyatt described a recent Portsmouth bombing in which her home and garage were destroyed while she was having tea in the house.

For 15 years Mrs Wyatt was private secretary to Lord Mayor Privet of Portsmouth, who died two years ago. In his will he bequeathed a bungalow home in Porthmouth to Mrs Wyatt, next to one of the city's famous churches.

While her husband has been busy in the air ministry at London Mrs Wyatt has been active in war nursing and is one of the high officers in the Volunteer Nurses corps in the Portsmouth area.

She had ridden a bicycle home

CHAPTER XV

'Ponny, stop!' Norma screamed as big hands gave her frothy underskirts a straightening jerk Blick laughing good-naturedly at his brother's boldness as Jane was, added a comment that rather sobered both girls with its vulgarity, and the four sat down to their luncheon in suddenly gloomy spirits, Norma sending more than one tentative glance toward Jocelyn as she did so—half defiant half afraid

When conversation recommenced, it was at a rather more rational level but Jocelyn did not like or trust the confident coarse big Sears brothers and when Norma proposed to go and spend the following night with them sister she seized her first opportunity of slipping off to telephone Philip

No not to that house he said 'Tell her I said so That is unless you go along' Much more of this and I'll have her committed to an asylum I don't think she ought to go to the Bruce show myself but my mother says you'll be there and she'll keep an eye on her. But don't stand any of that Sears nonsense that woman would be so glad to get Spotty compromised with one of those big bruisers she'd turn handsprings Patsy Carter telephoned me this morning, they're nice people They want Spotty for dinner but I said you'd call for her at half past ten That's tonight But go easy on that Bruce dance I understand it isn't going to start until about midnight Kids that age and they go to bed after dinner and sleep two hours before the party'

Jocelyn went back to Norma to remind her amiably that a court tennis match was going on in the city and that her father thought they might all like to see it he was going to try to be there and as Norma coldly turned down the Sears brothers suggestion of a ride it was finally decided that they should go into town for the tennis

Philip met them here and carried the younger crowd which by this time had swelled to about a dozen off for dancing and what was called "tea and Jocelyn had a free time in which to telephone her aunt in Sausalito and to pick up some small things she had left behind at the boardinghouse At six she was herself picked up by the Fordyce car Philip was staying in town for a club affair tonight the others had all scattered and Norma was alone She said at once at her wearv and sulky worst that she wished Miss Britton would not tell tales to her father there was no possible reason why she should not stay at the Sears house tomorrow night she liked the Searses very much and her grandmother liked them and so did everybody else And again she repeated that she considered the suspicions of the grown-ups disgusting

Jocelyn chatted along comfortably quieting her and presently interesting her and they were friends again as Mattress dressed her mistress for the Carter dinner Jocelyn accompanied her to the actual drawing room saw a gracious quiet woman and some girls and boys take joyful possession of her and then went thankfully home for the blissful quiet of a solitary dinner in her own room

So another day went by without mishap but on the eve of New Year's Eve she heard by telephone from a woman who haughtily described herself as Mrs Pauncefoote Sears and who laughed quite shrilly at the idea that Janet von Stumberg's child could not come to her house without a chaperon Mrs Sears described this situation as impossible and too ridiculous

Stupid to disappoint the poor kid she ended the conversation privately 'I only want to warn you Miss Britton that I am her mother's closest friend and she may not find this so very amusing I don't mind tonight of course I suppose lots of children but believe me you'll merely drive her mad to some spy or eavesdropper I know that blood'

'And I know your type to Jocelyn thought hanging up the receiver And now me you'll have with Connie's closest friend Jill believe me pretty soon I won't know how to [illegible]

[illegible] Norma [illegible]

[illegible] dance I began [illegible] on Norma's [illegible] and white [illegible] house by [illegible] what [illegible] Sears [illegible] and was [illegible] Norma was [illegible] as paper

'It [illegible] Norma [illegible] tested smiling through her tears

But how delightful it it does' exclaimed Charles van der Lipp enthusiastically Charles and other friends had been coming and going all day, they had sympathized deeply with Norma's trouble, consumed endless trays of sandwiches and cocktails and were now ready to rejoice with her in a brighter hour

A car was sent to San Francisco for the special purpose of collecting forty Japanese goldfish with wide feathered tails The cost of all this appalled Jocelyn But there was no one she could ask about it Norma's father was away in Yosemite her grandmother had been out playing poker until half past three that morning and as she too intended to go to the fancy-dress ball she was not to be disturbed until six in the afternoon

Twenty youngsters were to dine at the house in simple evening dress some afterward going to their own homes to dress one or two dressing at Hill Acres Jocelyn had a firm word with Norma about cocktails before dinner but most of the others indulged freely and it was nine o'clock before they sat down at the table

Even after that they made no hurry They played bridge they called the local moving picture house to ask what was playing The time between half past ten and half past twelve must somehow be whiled away no one wanted to be early at the dance But eventually it was time for Norma to go upstairs to take off her gauzy silver-and-white dinner dress and get into the fishy disguise When they started Riggs the underbutler mounted seriously up to the front seat of the car with the goldfish tank held steadily in his hand Jocelyn maneuvered Norma with her scales tail empty transparent bowl into a jump seat and managed to insinuate herself in behind her Charles had left them half an hour earlier to dress they were to pick him up

When he came down to the car at the Van der Lipps pretentious gate a mile away he and Norma began to laugh so violently at the impossibility of his getting into the car that for a while there was no prospect of getting started at all But eventually Charles who represented an artichoke with Hollandaise sauce, hung on half in and half out and driving carefully not to spill the fish or dislodge Charles the chauffeur eventually landed them safely at the Bruce mansion It was close upon midnight now but they were not the last cars were wheeling about in the black winter night and the first horns were blasting in the New Year

There was another delay while they stood in the drive and Charles and Riggs and Jocelyn from pitchers brought along for the purpose poured water from a garden faucet into the circular tank that surrounded Norma's slender body Then everything was ready they advanced up the steps and Jocelyn was quite unnoticed in the upron of enthusiasm that greeted the artichoke and the fish bowl when they went in

As with every fancy-dress party, this initial outburst of admiration exhausted the interest shown in the fantastic apparel of the latest arrivals Other extraordinary effects were coming in a taxiful on an elephant with six dancing girls a Popeye nine feet high Snow White and all her dwarfs In no time Norma was merely one of a pushing throng laughing good-natured enough but too much crowded together to notice anything except individual comfort and appearance The fish bowls were crushed together and the water in such danger of spilling and ruining a hundred stately gowns and period slippers that Norma was easily persuaded by Jocelyn to slip home with her hurry into exquisite evening wear fresh from Paris and return to the dance to enjoy comfort and the consciousness of her own beauty undisguised

Norma paid her respects to the hostess and was greeted by some old friends Then Jocelyn who was moving inconspicuously about the revels noticed to her uneasiness that the girl was drinking cocktails with anyone and everyone and in the special company of Pauncefoote Sears was growing excited and noisy There was nothing to be done about it her grandmother was there clicking chips in the comparative quiet of a card room snatching cards with agitated hands groping for the cigarette of the drink that was always at her side If anyone should check Norma it was Mrs Fordyce, but Mrs Fordyce had lost heavily the night before and was determined to get her own back tonight and her granddaughter's activities interested her no whit

It was about three o'clock when Charles van der Lipp found Jocelyn in the dimly lighted conservatory She had been wondering if she might not approach the excited perspiring smoke-scented, liquor-scented child who was her charge with the suggestion that it would be a good idea to go home She was wearied beyond bearing with the whole scene the costumes that had cost so much care and time and money had lost all their appeal the brimming glasses of champagne seemed to have been circulating through the milling and dancing crowds forever

'Miss Britton could I speak to you a minute? Would you step out here?' Charles said Jocelyn looked at him in surprise his tone was serious She had liked this ridiculous boy from the first even though her first view of him had been the prejudicial one of finding him sprawled in his dirty golfing clothes on Norma's bed she followed him into a sort of backwater of hallway and as she saw his expression she laid a hand on his arm

'Charles something's wrong? What is it?

'I'm a skunk for telling on them" he said unhappily But it's Norma She's an awfully decent little kid and I kind of hate to see her get in wrong'

'Where is she? What's she done? Jocelyn's thoughts leaped at once to drunkenness Norma had been fairly on her way to it and when she had last seen her Two thirds of the youngsters in the room were by this time silly with drink and some of the boys had frankly as the girls expressed it amusedly, passed out"

She and Peggy Wilson and Ponny Sears and Larry Bickford said they wanted to go down to Santa Barbara and swim and have breakfast They said they all felt too hot"

Santa Barbara'' Jocelyn said in a sharp whisper Why they couldn't' That's three hundred miles!"

'They went off about ten minutes ago in Larry's car They were all laughing and they said they'd get there about eight"

Jocelyn looked distractedly about Where's her grandmother? I must see her grandmother'

I went to find her first But they said she felt kind of sick and they'd been giving her lemon sours, and they thought she'd gone home

Charles don't say anything about this will you until we know? They may be around here somewhere Let's look for them everywhere And then I'll go home and see if Norma isn't there She was terribly tired and—and excited

Junior High Teams Tangle for Crown

Johnny Appleseed Combine Favored Over Simpson In Tilt at Stadium Field.

INTEREST can never run higher in an Ohio State-Michigan game than it will tonight when the John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed Junior high grid teams tangle at 8 o'clock under the lights at Stadium field for the city championship.

Both teams are confident of victory and will turn loose all their power in an effort to jump into an early lead and hold it until the final second.

Coach Bob DeHaven's club will have a weight advantage, but Appleseed's speed is expected to make the meeting a nip-and-tuck affray.

Mentor Paul Cameron's proteges' big job will be to stop Carl Schafer, Simpson's broken-field runner. The lad is the team's principal scoring threat.

Meanwhile Simpson must cope with several star Appleseed linemen. Among them is Metcalf, 219-pound tackle, who has been a mainstay in keeping his team's record clean this year.

In beating the Madison Reserves 12 to 0, and the Butler Junior high team 43 to 0, Appleseed has shown scoring strength on the ground and in the air.

The team is fast and once it breaks its backs loose they are hard to stop. All the ball packers can outrun the Simpson secondary.

Although the Appleseed team will enter the tussle as a favorite, the team's chances of winning dropped several points today when it was learned that Frank Miller, line-smashing fullback, will be on the sidelines most of the game.

* * *

Miller suffered a back injury Thursday when Appleseed battled the Galion Junior high team to a scoreless tie, and Cameron is doubtful if Miller can play.

Angelo Meets LaChappel In Feature Bout

Martini Angelo of Buffalo, N. Y., and Maurice LaChappel of Toronto, Canada, have been rematched as the main event on next Monday's wrestling card at the Doehla-Soprano athletic club, 22 East Third street. Promoter Bob Steele announced today. These two wrestlers appeared at the club last Monday night in the semi-final match. The semi-final event Monday will feature a match between the "Black Panther" of Louisville, Ky., and Walter Miller. Steele will meet Whitey Martin of Flint, Mich., in the preliminary, to round out the card.

Youngstown college, after a scoreless first half, turned on plenty of power to beat Morris Harvey college of Charleston, W. Va., in Youngstown last night. Matzie Perantoni made two touchdowns and "Ace" Congemi the third.

Christman Is Leading Back

Missouri Ace Ranks First In All-Around Play.

SEATTLE —(U.P.)— All-America Halfback Tom Harmon of Michigan was the nation's best ground-gainer today but came in second to Paul Christman of Missouri in total offense—gains, rushing and passing.

Figures compiled by the American football statistical bureau revealed that Harmon had gained 377 yards in three games by carrying the ball 63 times, but had gained only 148 yards in the air for a total of 525 yards.

Christman's passing gave him total offense honors. He completed 26 of 61 forwards for 40 yards and picked up 27 yards rushing for a total of 551 yards in three games.

Yarman paced the Mansfielders by taking first, Leslie and Malone, of Newark, placed second and third respectively, and Burkholder, Sowash and Sweet of Mansfield placed fourth, fifth, and sixth. SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— It has been my lot to see Max Baer in many of his most tragic moments.

* * *

I saw Jim Braddock take away his world's heavyweight championship. I was there when Joe Louis cut him to bits and made him take the count on one knee. I watched Lou Nova knife him to ribbons with rights and lefts.

But last night, in the quiet of a suite high in the New Yorker hotel I saw Max Baer plumb the depths of misery, wallow in the sands of despair, and all but cry aloud for help.

He was faced with nothing more formidable than 150 pages of typewritten script—the 150 pages of words he will have to memorize before his Broadway show "Hya Gentlemen," can go into production. But it had him on the canvas. Those 150 pages had him in worse shape than any opponent he ever faced in the ring.

"When I was in grammar school," Max moaned, "it took me six months to memorize the Village Blacksmith. And that was a short little thing—a six rounder. But this thing is a 20-rounder and I'm telling you I ain't sure I can last the distance."

"Keep punching, kid," encouraged Max's manager, Ancil Hoffman. "That script can't hurt us. We're a cinch."

Baer is probably the only "actor" in many a year to get his guarantee before he started studying his lines. The Barrymores, the Tracys, the Nugents, the Dowlings, and the Jessels, gamble on a show being a hit. But not Maxie.

He insisted on his dough being in the bank before he started wrestling with the first line of his script.

* * *

"We ain't suckers," Manager Hoffman explained. "We didn't come all the way from California for nothing. Max'll get his and I'll get mine even if the show doesn't last but one night."

MINNESOTA AT DAYTON

DAYTON — (NS) — Minnesota's football aggregation came to Dayton today for a workout on the University of Dayton's gridiron. The Gophers, 36 strong, will continue to Columbus tomorrow morning for the clash with Ohio State.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Conducting the weekly interview with football's willing (but frequently misinformed) crystal ball:

Alabama-Tennessee: Alabama's the mystery team of the southeastern conference but Tennessee, off its decisive defeat of Duke, looks like the Sherlock Holmes to provide all the answers. This vote, therefore, goes to Tennessee.

Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech: It will be a major surprise if Carnegie keeps the score within reasonable bounds. Cornell-Syracuse: The ballot is cast, as usual, for Cornell.

Michigan-Illinois: Bob Zuppke, canny coach of the Illini, engineered one of 1939's greatest upsets in this game. History can and does repeat but so far as this corner is concerned, we'll take Harmon, Evashevski and company.

Washington State-Stanford: The com says Stanford, Texas Aggies-Texas Christian: Straining along with the Aggies, Colgate-Duke: Duke gets the nod. Penn-Princeton: Penn. Pitt-Fordham: Fordham is the choice. Columbia-Cornell: Out of the hat . . . Colorado-Yale-Dartmouth-Seymour and Anderson will be back and the nod goes to Yale.

Last but not [illegible] This choice is Harvard-Ohio State-Minnesota. It figures to look as though Ohio State has [illegible] Minnesota should be. Minnesota-Wisconsin-Northwestern: Having hurdled Ohio State, De Correvont, Clawson, et al., look safe enough in this one although Wisconsin's passes may spell trouble. Still, Northwestern.

Indiana - Iowa: Bo McMillin's luck is going to change sooner or later but, in the meantime, Iowa. Kansas-Nebraska: Nebraska. Missouri-Iowa State: Looks like too much Christman for Iowa State. Oklahoma - Kansas State: Oklahoma. Washington-Oregon State: Washington.

California-U. C. L. A.: U. C. L. A. is overdue. Southern California-Oregon: Southern California. Southern Methodist-Auburn: This vote for S. M. U. is based on nothing more substantial than the fact the game will be played in Dallas.

Arkansas-Texas: Spot for an upset but we'll take Texas. Georgia Tech-Vanderbilt: Georgia Tech. Mississippi-Duquesne: Mississippi. Tulane-Rice: Rice, timidly.

North Carolina State-North Carolina: North Carolina. Manhattan-Detroit: Detroit. Temple-Michigan State: Michigan State.

Also: Boston college over Idaho; Holy Cross over N. Y. U.; Navy over Drake, Florida over Maryland; Kentucky over George Washington; Washington & Lee over Richmond, Virginia over Virginia Military, Georgetown over Virginia Tech.; Wake Forest over Marshall; Colorado over Colorado State; Denver over Wyoming, Utah over Utah State; Texas Tech. over Brigham Young.

Buckeyes In Comeback

72,000 Expected To See Minnesota Test Ohio State Gridders.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP)—Close to 72,000 fans are slated to sit in Saturday afternoon at Ohio State's huge stadium as the Bucks seek to answer a couple of questions against Minnesota's mighty Gophers.

Among the questions are: "Can the Bucks come back after that Northwestern defeat?" and "Are the Bucks as good on the field as they appear on paper?"

Ohio, after beating Pittsburgh 30 to 7 in the opener, and nosing out Purdue 17-14 in the last 21 seconds on big Charley Maag's field goal, ran into a 6-3 snag against the Wildcats last Saturday. While the Big Ten champs were bowing, Minnesota was idle, so Coach Bennie Bierman has had two weeks to get his husky crew ready for Saturday's clash.

A year ago Maag furnished the "difference" against Minnesota as the Bucks won 23 to 20 in a see-saw contest. The huge tackle's trusty toe has accounted for a fielder in each of the three Ohio tilts this season, and the chances are he'll be called on again Saturday.

The Gophers will delay their arrival in Columbus until after noon Saturday. They were due in Dayton Friday morning, and had an afternoon workout slated on the University of Dayton gridiron.

Ohio's stalwarts, held to six yards by rushing by Northwestern, spent most of the week brushing up on fundamentals and defensive play, hoping to halt the powerful running attack of the Minnesota team. The Buck coaches realize Ohio will have a tough time opening holes in the Gopher front wall, and the chances are the home boys will concentrate on an aerial attack to spread the defense so the running plays might have a chance.

Jim Strausbaugh, the Chillicothe flash who did most of Ohio's ground-gaining in 1939, is expected back in harness following an injury which kept him out of all except two minutes of the first three games. His return, however, isn't expected to pull down the odds against the twice victorious Minnesotas.

Saturday's fray marks Minnesota's first conference tilt of the campaign, and the first appearance of the Gophers in Ohio stadium.

The last time Minnesota appeared here was in 1921, at old Ohio Field, when the Bucks came back after a 7-6 setback at the hands of little Oberlin to win by 27 to 0. The next year Minnesota won 9 to 0, and in 1932 the Gophers triumphed 19 to 7 in a charity tilt at Minneapolis.

SHORTAGE OF CADDIES IS CAUSING CONCERN

CHICAGO—(AP)—A shortage of caddies for the nation's golf course is causing concern in the ranks of the National Professional Golf association.

Tom Walsh, president of the association, said today that the decline had been so pronounced this year that the matter was due for major attention at the PGA's annual convention, which he announced would be here Nov. 11-14.

AERIAL DUEL PREDICTED

NEW YORK —(NS)— Tonight's arc-light tussle between Manhattan and the University of Detroit will be nothing but an aerial duel, it was clear today. It will be Johnny Supulski, Manhattan's eagle-eyed passer, against Al Ghesquiere of the Titans.

Reports Say Bucky Offered Cleveland Job.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The Plain Dealer said today it learned from an authoritative source in Washington that Stanley (Bucky) Harris has been offered a one-year contract to manage the Cleveland Indians.

Harris' contract as manager of the Washington baseball club expires this winter.

It was reported that Harris expressed willingness to succeed Oscar Vitt as Cleveland manager but insists on a three-year contract.

Alva Bradley, president of the Indians, was reported to have arranged to place Harris' proposition before a meeting of his board of directors Oct. 28. Bradley is on vacation at Sea Island, S. C.

Harris, 44 years old, has served as player and manager in the American league for 20 years.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, was said to have given his assent to Bradley's negotiations with Harris, the Plain Dealer reported, although Griffith would make no comment.

Vitt's troubles as manager of the Indians have given baseball followers universally the conviction he would not be rehired.

Ohio State's Victory Was Illegal, But It Will Stand

Big Ten Boss Rules Score Is Still Official

Major Griffith Says Substitution Is On 'Honor System' With Coaches.

CHICAGO—(UP)—In the Big Ten records today is a football score: Ohio State 17, Purdue 14, and it's as illegal as a 12-man team.

"But it will have to stand," said Maj. John L. Griffith, Western conference athletic director "I have seen no pictures nor had any word from either school about the use of an ineligible player but even if it is true the result is official."

It's true about the illegal substitution, all right Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Ohio State admitted he'd made a "sincere mistake" in returning Tackle Charley Maag to the field in the second quarter of the Purdue game. Maag, who should have been disqualified for his illegal entry, second of the period, won the game by kicking a 25-yard field goal in the last 19 seconds.

"Big Ten coaches have been using a so-called 'honor system' on their substitutions the last three or four years," Griffith said. "We found when coaches inserted entire teams it slowed up the game considerably since the umpire had to check the names of all substitutes against a list he carried.

* * *

"Umpires have plenty else to do We figured we would lighten their job by having coaches keep track of their own men. Of course, if the umpire spots an illegal substitution he can call the required penalty."

The penalty says a player entering a period twice must be disqualified and his team penalized 15 yards

Coach Mal Elward of Purdue was willing to "forgive and forget" Schmidt shouldered the blame.

"Generally we make it a rule to ask the boys if they've been in the game, but I guess we slipped up in Maag's case" Schmidt said. "There was no action on plays while he was in there but the substitution was illegal and I'm taking the blame for it.

"We had used Maag just a play or two in the second period, and when we got to the last part of the quarter. Charley was sitting next to Ernie (Line Coach Ernie Godfrey) on the bench" Schmidt added.

"There were only two plays left and so we sent him in. Ernie actually made the substitution and it was absolutely unintentional. But I'm the coach and I was responsible.

"Ernie must have said 'Let's put Maag in' and I probably said 'Okay'."

STUDENTS START ACTION TO GET STAR IN LINEUP

NEW YORK —(INS)— A group of New York university students today were making plans for a campus protest to attempt to get Leonard Bates, a colored sophomore fullback, into the lineup Nov. 2 when the Violets meet Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

Dr. Mal Stevens, head football coach at N. Y. U., said there was no hard and fast rule barring Bates but that it was mutually understood between the schools that colored players would not be used against Missouri. He said Bates had been apprised earlier of this situation and had acquiesced.

Earth-Shocking System Keeps Golf Greens Healthy

SEATTLE—(AP)—One of the chief problems of golf course greenskeepers—how to keep their greens weedless and bug-free—has been solved at the Seattle Golf club.

The solution is a box-like, electrical gadget that "electrocutes" bugs and weed germinations in the soil before the soil is even used in the green, either as base or top-dressing.

L. R. Coffin, club member and power company executive, tackled the problem about five years ago when he was on the greens committee.

Together with a power company employe, they figured out the electrical box. It holds about a yard and a half of soil. Inside the box are several metal plates through which the electricity courses. The soil is dampened to act as an electrical conductor. All the moisture runs out of the soil at about 190 degrees fahrenheit and the process automatically stops.

It's still "live" soil, however, as the desirable germinations can't be killed with less than 212 degrees.

Bulldogs Without a Muzzle

Here are Coach Raymond (Ducky) Pond of the Yale Bulldogs and the team captain, Hal B. Whiteman, jr. Yale is rebuilding her grid fortunes.

YOUNGSTOWN MARKS UP FOURTH GRID TRIUMPH

YOUNGSTOWN—(UP)— Led by Halfback Matzie Perantoni the Youngstown College Penguins marched to a fourth victory of the season against Morris Harvey last night, 19 to 0

Perantoni compensated for the loss for a number of Youngtown regulars through injuries by scoring two of the touchdowns. He did most of the ball-carrying and averaged eight yards each time. Congemi scored the third touchdown and Marty Vardaro kicked the lone extra point.

STARTS SAME TEAM

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Taking no chances with the Panthers, Coach Jimmy Crowley of the Fordham Rams was determined today on starting the same team that beat Tulane last week against Pitt tomorrow. The backfield may be re-arranged as the game progresses but the starting order calls for both Len Eshmont and Jim Blumenstock

Richland Farmers Buy 6,400 Tons of Lime to Help Soil

Approximately 650 Richland county farmers have purchased 6,400 tons of lime for their land during the past six months under the federal soil conservation program, according to AAA officials in the county.

Farmers participating in the federal crop program were required to buy the lime to build their land for legume crops, including clover and alfalfa. Participating farmers must meet specific land improvement requirements to receive their money from the federal government.

The lime cost farmers from $1.66 to $2.17 a ton, depending upon the distance it had to be shipped. Most of it came from quarries near Oceola in Crawford county.

Farmers applied the lime at the rate of one and a half to two tons per acre.

Life of Great Man.

Again the movie studios have made a powerful picturization of the life of a great man in the story of "Knute Rockne—All American" which comes Saturday to the Ohio. Pat O'Brien plays the title role and Gale Page plays the part of Bonnie, his wife. The picture traces Rockne's life from his early childhood in Norway to his tragic death in 1931. His vigor, his astute philosophy, the great teams he built, the developing of the famous "Four Horsemen" are all told.

Horror Film and Western.

Boris Karloff stars in the weird and fascinating horror-film, "The Man With Nine Lives," showing at the Park. Central figure of the drama is a ruthless scientist portrayed by Karloff, who returns to life after being in a state of "frozen sleep" for 10 years. As soon as he is restored the man embarks on a ruthless series of experiments in his underground laboratory which result in the snuffing out of five lives. Co-feature is "Western Jamboree," with Gene Autry in the lead.

Underworld Lawyers.

The exciting story of underworld lawyers, "The Man Who Talked Too Much," stars Virginia Bruce, Brenda Marshall and George Brent. This picture adapted from the Frank J. Collins' play, is showing today and Saturday at the Ritz. It tells of a District Attorney, played by Brent, who is disillusioned with his job when he learns that he convicted an innocent man. Co-feature is "Roll Wagons Roll."

Starrett Plays Dual Role.

A blazing gun battle between buckaroos and cattle rustlers is a feature of "The Durango Kid" showing today and Saturday at the Majestic. Charles Starrett plays the dual role of Bill Lowry and the mysterious Durango Kid, who is the terror of cattle thieves and a friend of the poor homesteaders. Co-attraction is "Glamor For Sale," starring Anita Louise and Roger Pryor.

Elaborate Musical.

Don Ameche and Betty Grable are paired in the technicolor feature "Down Argentine Way," showing at the Madison. Sultry Carmen Miranda makes her screen debut in this picture, singing four of the distinctive songs that have made her famous on two continents. Don plays the dashing scion of a wealthy South American family, singing and dancing in this feature.

MISCALCULATED

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—For 17 years J. W. Robinson criss-crossed the nation to avoid being picked up on an indictment charging him with assault with intent to murder. At last he thought it was safe for him to come back to Atlanta, where the accusation was made. He looked up an old roommate to spend the night. The roomie didn't turn him in but Hayden Parker, also in the room, did. Parker was the man Robinson was charged with attempting to murder.

PROFIT TAKING BRINGS MIXED PRICE RANGE

Aircrafts Among Group Getting Occasional Support; Bonds Maintain Balance.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A little profit taking in the recently buoyant steels brought moderately mixed price changes in today's stock market.

Getting support occasionally were Boeing, Glenn Martin, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, General Electric and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Bonds and commodities maintained their balance. Securities at London turned a bit uneven.

Scant speculative inspiration was to be found in news from the war, business or political fronts, brokers said.

Boardrooms were not particularly disturbed by the survey of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing the country's retail store activities this week failed to record the year-to-year gains usually expected at this time.

The slack was blamed mainly on abnormal Indian summer weather in most sections of the nation.

Helpful were the figures of New York City Federal Reserve member banks for the week ended Wednesday showing another jump in commercial loans.

for tea, she writes, and was sitting in her home when a 1,000-pound bomb from a Nazi plane crashed through the top of the nearby church and into her garage.

It exploded immediately, destroying the garage and shattering the house. "I was buried under debris," Mrs. Wyatt writes, "but managed to crawl out, and got outside of the house just as the roof fell in.

"My car and bicycle had been in the garage, and of course were destroyed. So there was nothing left for me to do but walk back to work," she concluded laconically.

Mrs. Wyatt's mother, Mrs. Ada Townsend, had been evacuated to the country two days earlier and missed the bombing. Another daughter, Mrs. George Sparks of Cuyahoga Falls, had urged Mrs. Townsend to come to America to live.

"I recall vividly the cablegram she received in reply," Mrs. Hoffman said. It was:

"Here for the duration."

The cash loss from accidents annually in the United States has been estimated at $2,500,000,000.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN PRIDE OF ARMY OFFICERS

Fort Monroe Boasts of New .90 MM Gun as 'Best In the World.'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles on actual conditions in the U. S. Army at the present time. They are based on observations made during a 10-day flying tour of army posts. The articles are written, not in criticism of the army, but to show America what it is up against in its national defense program.)

By JACK VINCENT
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Down at Fort Monroe, Va., army officers boasted of the new .90 MM anti-aircraft gun. They claimed it was the best in the world.

"How many of them have you got?" a colonel was asked.

"Well, only one now," he replied.

That incident today typified the condition of the U. S. army. Everywhere there are evidences of shortage of war equipment. It is not the fault of the army because the army in the past has been handicapped by lack of funds.

But it does mean than the army will not be prepared for two years, possibly more, to fight a major war, according to competent observers.

At Ft. Benning, Ga., the army pointed with pride to a new type observation plane, designated the O-52. With extraordinarily large wing flaps, the ship can land and take off in less than 100 yards.

But there were only two of them in the whole army.

Meanwhile, the army is using regular commercial (Stinson) cabin planes to train air observers, regarded as an integral part of any armored division. And meanwhile, too, with the need for coordinated use of airplanes and armored divisions, those two branches of the service are training at different fields.

At Ft. Knox, Ky., where the army's first armored division is being trained, officers praised a new medium tank regiment. The regiment, on paper, consists of 110 medium tanks. But when it parades, it only has 10 medium tanks, and that the rest of the unit is made up of light tanks, most of them of old world war vintage.

And, it will be almost two and one half years, it was admitted before there will be any large scale production of medium tanks.

Further, many tanks are lacking in guns. Many of the 400 tanks at Ft. Benning are without their full machine gun equipment. It was the same story at Ft. Knox, Ky., where not only tanks but armored cars were lacking machine-guns. There were places for machine gun mounts, but no guns.

In some cases, there were not enough armored cars. At Ft. Knox, troops assigned to armored cars rode in open trucks, pretending that they were in the half-tractor, half-auto fighting vehicles.

Some of the tanks at Ft. Knox also had been stripped of their .37 mm cannon. On the turrets were gaping holes where the 37's were once maintained.

Topping those little incidents is the story of the parachute troops in the U. S. army. As a matter of fact, there now are only 60 parachutes and plans on paper for some 340 more.

Back in 1933, the army started to train parachutists. But, according to reports, the training was stopped even before it got fully underway because the air corps and the infantry could not agree which branch of service should command them.

So the plan was forgotten until Germany used the parachute troops in its invasion of the lowlands. Now the United States is trying to organize such troops almost overnight.

But even for the present 60 parachute troops, there are no adequate transport planes nor training planes. The army now uses cargo ships to train the chutists, merely taking the door off of a cargo plane so that the parachute troops will have a way to leave the ship. The door must be taken off because it can't be opened against the rush of air when it is flying.

If military victories depend on equipment of details, the army would be in pitiful shape if it had to go to war tomorrow.

C. OF C. INDEX SHOWS BUSINESS CONTINUING ON UPWARD TREND

Indexes of Mansfield business announced today by the Chamber of Commerce continued to indicate a trend upward in both industrial and retail circles which may lead to pre-depression heights before the year's end.

For the 15th consecutive week, mercantile and industrial employment both showed gains, the chamber's monthly business review disclosed. There were 11,410 workers employed in business and industry in Mansfield on Oct. 1 as compared to 11,194 on May 1, a gain of 216 workers in the past five months.

New automobile sales paced the gains made so far this year, showing a 30.7 per cent increase over the corresponding period in 1939. A total of 2,456 automobiles were reported sold this year against 1,602 cars sold during the same period last year.

Only building valuations and postal receipts were off, building permits dropping to $1,433,693 so far this year. Valuations for the nine-month period in 1939 totalled $1,971,430, boosted chiefly by a $1,000,000 school building program.

Postal receipts this year total $275,091, a seven per cent loss from the $295,752 figure last year.

Richland county prepaid sales tax receipts for the year showed a gain of 14 per cent. Collections total $424,099 as against $351,576 for the same period in 1939.

Bank clearings were up approximately $15,000,000 and showed an 8.2 per cent gain. Clearings so far this year total $68,729,486. Last year, the total stood at $53,175,144.

Figures compiled by the Mansfield Rapid Transit company showed an increase of 11.5 per cent. A total of 1,458,116 passengers have been carried this year as compared with 1,289,716 during the corresponding period last year.

Carloadings shot up 10 per cent, the 1940 total reaching 31,066. In 1939 the total was 27,903.

Alien Votes For 55 Years Before Learning Mistake

ROSWELL, N. M.—(U.P.)—An "alien" who has lived in the United States for 55 years without special license, has voted, served on juries and enjoyed other privileges of citizenship, at last has his citizenship papers.

D. M. Auld, 68, was born on Prince Edward Isle, Canada, and moved to this country with his parents when he was 13 years old. Auld's father and mother took out first citizenship papers and, as far as he knew, became citizens.

Auld grew up, first voted for a president in 1896, and has served on juries several times through his years of residence in Roswell. Later he married Mrs. Auld, born in England, who believed that her marriage made her an American citizen.

Recently he began checking on his parents' citizenship, with a view to apply for old-age pension. Finding they had never completed naturalization proceedings, he sent in his application.

District Judge James B. McGhee, who issued the papers in Roswell, said he believed the customary examination in Auld's case could be made a little less stringent, and the aged applicant "passed" in a few minutes.

Petroleum consumption in the U. S. this year is expected to reach 425 gallons per capita.

WANTED TO VOTE

MIAMI, Fla.—(INS)—Walking into the Miami police station, P. E. Thompson said he wanted to register. Puzzled Sgt. William Gaines asked: "Criminal registration?" Thompson said yes. Answering questions which he obviously couldn't fathom, the visitor blew up when the sergeant queried: "When were you last released from a penitentiary?" Then the matter cleared up. Thompson had wanted to register to vote.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY HAVE OHIO SETTING

'Jacob's Corner' and "Buckeye Country' Among Volumes on Newly Released List.

Several new books at the Mansfield Public library this week should have special appeal in this vicinity, because they are written about Ohio. A noval, "Jacoby's Corners," by Herman Fetzer tells the story of a young New Yorker, who spends a summer visiting the land of his home-folk in Ohio.

H. H. Hatcher's "Buckeye Country" is a pageant of this state, which he deems the crossroads state, where all colonists fought for supremacy a century and a half ago. The author of "My Sister Eileen," Ruth McKenney has just finished another book entitled, "McKenneys Carry On," in which she records the happenings of two young Ohio women.

The new fiction list includes: THE FAMILY by Nina Fedorova is the story of a group of White Russian refugees—Granny, Mother and the three children—who make their precarious living running a boarding house in the English concession of Tientsin, China, during the Japanese invasion in 1937. It is the Atlantic price novel ($10,000) of 1940.

Ii RALEIGH'S EDEN by Inglis Fletcher a vast and significant drama of life in that rich, fertile land along the coast of North Carolina in the golden era before the Revolution, before the serpent of political and economic injustice—in the guise of England's Hanoverian king—entered and brought havoc, is unrolled.

Other fiction: FOR OUR VINES HAVE TENDER GRAPES by Martin; WHITEOAK HERITAGE, De La Roche; MURDER AT THE MUNITION WORKS, Cole.

New non-fiction—COUNTRY EDITOR by Henry Beetle, the author presents not only his life during the twenty years he was editor and publisher of the Vinyard Gazette, but also an inclusive view of the whole life of the community of Edgartown from town meeting to town drunkard. It is replete with authentic Americana, anecdotes, and character studies.

WITCHCRAFT; ITS POWER IN THE WORLD TODAY by William Seabrook is one man's testimony to the existence and the limitations of witchcraft now. Mr. Seabrook is also the author of Asylum.

Other non-fiction:—MINSTREL BOY by Strong; IMPERIAL BYZANTIUM, Eckstein; STORY OF THE APOCRYPHA, Goodspeed; COMMON PESTS, Doane; INSECTS, MAN'S CHIEF COMPETITORS, Flint & Metcalf; PLANTING OF CIVILIZATION IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA, Buck; HOTEL IN FLIGHT, Johnstone; PANAMA SKETCHES, Greene; ACROSS THE FRUITED PLAIN, Means; MOVE ON, YOUTH, Nall; FAITH FOR LIVING, Mumford.

POLICE TO HONOR 5 OFFICERS FOR PROWESS ON PISTOL RANGE

Mansfield police will gather at the Southern hotel Tuesday evening for a banquet to honor five members who ranked high in a pistol shoot, sponsored recently for the department by the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers.

Those who will be presented with trophies will include Patrolman Paul J. Martin, who took first honors; Patrolman C. W. Kyler, who ranked second; Lieut. Paul Whipp, third and Patrolman George Yoakum, fourth place. A consolation prize will be awarded Detective Lee J. Remy, for the officer showing the most improvement.

The match, completed two weeks ago, was shot over a practical police pistol course at the Ontario rifle range. Scores were figured on a six-week average.

During the evening, state highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies will take over the officers' beats. Radio dispatches from district headquarters of the patrol will be sent here to man the police radio, Police Chief Meade K. Bates said today.

CONTRACT FOR WALTER AVENUE PAVING OKED

Mansfield Co.'s Bid Under Cost Estimate; Water Valves Also Ordered.

Contract for paving Walter avenue was awarded today to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, lone bidder on the project, although the type of pavement to be laid has not yet been decided.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said the firm entered bids of four types of surfacing, all of which were under the city engineer's estimate of $10,932.

The company bid $8,963.75 on brick, $8,066.70 on a T-50 surface, $8,582.70 on westphalt, and $7,152 on concrete. The director said he would contact property owners who requested the improvement between Sturges avenue and Wood street to determine the type of pavement desired.

It is expected that work will get under way within the next week in order to complete the block long section before cold weather.

Crafton at the same time announced that the contract for supplying the water department with several valves to be used in the construction of a high capacity main to be laid this winter was awarded to the Rensselear Valve company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The firm, lowest of seven bidders, submitted a price of $1525.31 on the materials.

Other bids were entered by the Hughes Supply company, Mansfield, $1,628.05; Darling Valve and Manufacturing company, Williamsport, Pa., $1,528.85; Kennedy Valve and Manufacturing company, Elmira, N. Y., $1,525.95; A. P. Smith company, East Orange, N. J., $1,562; Crane company, Cleveland, $1,547.75, and the Hardware and Supply company, Akron, whose bid was incomplete.

Bids entered by four firms on nearly a mile of 16-inch pipe for the same job were still being studied and Crafton said it might be several days before the contract would be let.

They included those of the Central Foundry company, New York City, $16,969.50; James B. Clow company, Chicago, Ill., $15,363.50; American Cast Iron Pipe company, Cleveland, $15,365.50, and the U. S. Pipe and Foundry company, Chicago, $14,896.20.

Mexico City will inaugurate skiing this winter on Mount Popocatapetl.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1940.

The dictators are willing to resort to any measure short of peace.

After all, some congressmen might be better vote-getters if they would stay in Washington and write letters.

Yale's athletic director thinks it wise "to keep college athletics and educational goals in balance"—but the educational goals don't seem to draw the crowds.

Physical and Mental Progress

A DISTINCT American type of human being is developing, according to Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, distinguished American scientist, who said: "The proportions of the bodies of Americans are changing. Stature is increasing. The stock is being improved. Every 50 years an inch is being added to stature. All second generations in this country spurt up, with girls even taller than their fathers. This occurs among people of all derivations, even the short Mediterranean stock."

It is interesting, and to most people cause for satisfaction. We still admire size. But is size really important any more? With modern command over the forces of nature, and mechanical power so much more effective than physical strength, it isn't clear now that large people are preferable to small people.

Far more important is the statement of Dr. Hrdlicka that human brains are improving. He says we have better brains now, on the average, than our ancestors had a thousand years ago.

And he isn't at all worried about the survival of civilization. "If humankind survived when the man was still half an animal," he says, "and all sorts of dangers from his fellow-humans and from nature beset him on every side, he will survive the present ordeal." It is encouraging to have this reassurance.

Mr. Flynn Has Wrong Impression

EXCEPT that he may be a victim of the myopia of his Tammany environment, it is difficult to understand where Democratic National Committee Chairman Edward J. Flynn got the idea that the newspapers of the United States are "under a real dictatorship—a financial dictatorship of their advertisers."

With Mr. Flynn's range of political activity suddenly expanded from the Bronx into a high position in his party, it is understandable that his vision of America is rather restricted by a preconceived notion that this nation lies largely to the east of the Hudson river and finds inspiration in Tammany policies and practices.

Mr. Flynn was even so naive as to "wonder" if owners and editors of newspapers "would dare publish his statement about the dictated press."

Any doubt that Mr. Flynn may have had as to the willingness of newspapers of the United States to give ample publicity to his charges, and to comment on their untruth and absurdity, must have been immediately cleared by editorial comment extending from the bald statement: "You lie, Mr. Flynn!" made by C. B. Blethen, publisher of the Seattle Times, to the milder, "You owe an apology to honest newspapers and newspapermen all over the country for falling into an Ickes tantrum of uninformed generalities about the good faith of newspapermen who have been consistently fair through the years and on whom no advertiser-pressure could be exerted under any circumstances. . . ."

The attitude of newspapers in general was quite fairly expressed by the Los Angeles Times comment on the Flynn statement: "There is no more firmly established fact in the publishing business than that dishonesty is the quickest possible form of suicide for a newspaper. Loss of reader-confidence—its only real asset—is dishonesty's immediate result. When that is lost it has nothing left of value, either as a medium of public information or of advertising."

Mr. Flynn recently repudiated a "smear" pamphlet issued by the colored division of the Democratic national committee, saying it had not been submitted for committee approval. It might be well if his own intended remarks could be submitted to somebody or other before being made.

More Windowless Factories

MANUFACTURERS tend more and more to build factories without windows, providing all the light and ventilation by modern means that can be better controlled. Recent examples have been built by Henry Ford and General Motors and the Grumman airplane factory. Some stores and other business buildings are following the new pattern.

The original inspiration of this type of structure was scientific. Lately there is an influence of an entirely different kind tending in the same direction. It is safety in war time. The windowless and skylightless building has naturally a perpetual blackout as far as the external world is concerned, and is therefore safer against air bombing. Also safer against shattering from external explosions of any kind.

So a business writer is naturally wondering whether the present war isn't going to give a big impetus, not merely to erecting this closed type of buildings, but to walling up the windows of existing buildings and providing modern lighting facilities instead of sunlight, with the air-conditioning that naturally goes with such changes.

Still a Land of Refuge and Hope

A FEW years ago a costume movie, "The Scarlet Pimpernel," entertained the public with a tale of adventure of the time of the French revolution, when a daring Englishman and a group of fellow conspirators risked their own lives to rescue men and women from the guillotine. On the screen, at least, their bold deeds were always successful.

During and before our own war between the states an institution called the "underground railway" helped slaves escape into free Canada. Its work must have been hard on the slave owners of the South, but its ultimate usefulness to the cause of freedom was quite evident.

No doubt there is material for romances of the sort in escapes of persecuted people now flocking from the wrath of the dictators in Europe and Asia. The other day 15 alien authors and their families reached safety in this country after many harrowing experiences. They will say little of their escape because those who helped them are still busy helping others.

As the power of the Gestapo becomes more firmly entrenched in the conquered areas of Europe it will become more difficult to get refugees out. Yet our national life and literature should be richer for this secret, effective aid to persons persecuted because of their loyalty to principles they held dearer than life itself.

Strange Workings of Politics

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Politics is a strange disease. It's like tropical fever. Once it's in your blood, there is no telling when it's going to crop out. And for an outsider, it is pretty hard to see what the conditions are that bring about its recurrence.

For instance, in the senate gallery the other day, I witnessed this little legislative drama:

Senator Wheeler, the Montana Democrat, who has been one of the chief ramrods in opposition to administration foreign policy, stood up before the senate the other day and offered his resolution to investigate foreign control or partial ownership by foreign companies or individuals of stock, patents, etc., in American firms which contribute to the national defense program.

There was a preamble to the resolution which started: "Whereas authentic reports indicate that German and other foreign corporations enjoy a measure of control over some of our most important defense industries; and whereas an American corporation which supplies glass for instruments and weapons for the army and navy has been shown to have close relations with a German concern involving disclosure of secret processes; and whereas one of the most important metals, invaluable in the manufacture of airplanes, is controlled by a corporation half of whose stock is reliably reported to be owned by the German chemical trust . . ."

FOLLOWING some more whereases was the resolution to investigate the situation and report to the senate.

It takes an army of reporters, working night and day, just to skim the cream of the news off this national defense program, and nobody can say that he or she knows all about it. But on the surface, this would look like a pretty worthy investigation, wouldn't it? If there are financial fifth columnists working against the defense program, one of the national legislative bodies should know about it. If there aren't, then all these rumors should be branded as propaganda and silenced forever. BUT . . .

Senator Austin, Vermont Republican, brought up the question of expediency and objected to consideration of the resolution at this time.

Senator Barkley, leader of the Democratic majority in the senate, put in this: "Being a member of the committee on interstate commerce, I am familiar with the facts connected with this resolution and the statements before the committee resulting in its report. I can state to the senator from Vermont that there is no politics in the resolution. It is not a political matter at all . . ."

Senator Austin—"Does it NOT occur to the Senator from Kentucky (Mr. Barkley) that without any intention on the part of the senate in passing the resolution, nevertheless politics might get into this matter?"

Senator Barkley — "It is not contemplated there shall be any hearings under the resolutions at present . . . The facts may be developed in a quiet way . . . There will probably be no publicity about the matter. As the senator from Montana (Mr. Wheeler) says, in January . . ."

Senator Wheeler — "There will not be any politics after January anyway. Politics will be over at that time, will be adjourned, we hope, for four years . . . What we want to do is gather the information between now and January."

Senator Austin—"All the learned senators say supports my opinion that we would do well to put this off until after the first of January."

* * *

THERE was more to it than that, a lot more, but all in the same vein. The resolution passed and the preamble passed and the senate interstate commerce committee now is presumably going into the matter of foreign influence in companies which have to do with national defense, but since both sides admitted that it has something to do with politics, let's all put our heads together and figure out how.

Listen World!

It's the Pay-Off

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

AS NOTED before, I'm no political writer. Even though I realize that we Americans are facing the greatest crisis in our career, I haven't stocked up with a single ancient tomato or egg. However, I can't help noticing a peculiar attitude in the ranks of both parties.

Without exception, they all believe that our present Tough Times are merely current events which have been caused by, or can be cured by, One Man. Than which there never was a more cockeyed notion.

The unhappy conditions of debt and unemployment which now confront us were not started by Mr. Roosevelt. He may have added a bit to the muddle, and it's a cinch that Mr. Willkie, being merely mortal, will add a bit more if elected. For no one individual can possibly tidy up this mess satisfactorily in one generation. Because why? Because it isn't a one-generation job.

IT'S A JOB THAT'S BEEN IN THE MAKING FOR THOUSANDS OF YEARS—THE RESULT OF SCORES OF GENERATIONS' INDIFFERENCE, NEGLECT AND ABUSE.

This present rumpus didn't start with the Market Crash of 1929 or the New Deal. It goes back and back, to every president America has ever had, and the things they didn't do. Back before that, to every world leader . . . to Napoleon and Louis XIV . . . to Nero and Caesar and Cleopatra . . . to those nameless engineers who plotted the Pyramids and those forgotten tedmen who built the Cliff Dwellings. Back and back it goes to the day when the first two men did the first job. And one was the Boss . . . and one the Underdog.

AND THIS IS THE PAY-OFF: THE PAY-OFF FOR HUNGER AND PAIN, IGNORANCE AND INJUSTICE, MONOTONY AND INSECURITY, DISAPPOINTMENT AND DESPAIR.

For the millions of years men have lived on this earth, this pay-off has been accumulating. That's the queer thing about a spiritual debt. The Statute of Limitations may release you from paying back those twenty bucks you borrowed from Bill, back in '29. But no power on earth or in heaven or hell will set you free from your responsibility for the other fellow's sins and misery, for the tears he's given, without due reward, in your and your fathers' service.

THIS IS THE PAY-OFF. And you don't have to go back to any galley slaves. I'm not a museum specimen, yet. But I can easily remember when men worked 12 hour days, six days a week, without a yearly vacation, for wages that would hardly supply your pup with bones. They didn't complain much, those men. But Life complained for them. Life registered the injustice of those cruel hours, the waste of energy and ambition, the loss of laughter and tenderness and human pride. And now Life is going to collect.

What started this present World war? How could one hysterical little man gain such incredible power in a few short years? Those decades of accumulated injustice, desperate hope and despair, started this war . . . and gave that frail neurotic his fiendish power. Just as similar injustices in every land—even including England—has at last resulted in this ghastly shore-down.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" screamed Cain, red-handed from young Abel's death.

And out of His anger God thundered: "The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. And now art thou cursed from the earth . . . when thou tillest it it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength; a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth."

THIS IS THE PAY-OFF NOW WE ARE CURSED FOR OUR BROTHERS' BLOOD AND ANGUISH. NOR EVER WILL WE KNOW PEACE AND SECURITY AGAIN UNTIL THE DEBT IS PAID.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

New System In Buying for Army Benefits Small Local Factories

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Nothing has been said about it publicly, but the Defense Commission has persuaded the army to make a revolutionary change in its purchasing methods. It will mean juicy orders to hundreds of factories which never had a look in before.

The new system junks the old procedure of advertised bids and substitutes a modified plan of negotiated contracts. Instead of buying shoes, shirts, or raincoats in huge quantities from a few large concerns, the army will purchase these goods as far as possible within each of the nine corps areas.

This means that small local factories will have a chance to obtain a chunk of the army's business.

The new procedure works this way: When the army needs 1,000,000 pairs of shoes, it will not ask for bids on the total order, upon which only a few of the biggest firms can bid. Instead, the procurement divisions of the nine army corps areas will each ask manufacturers in their districts to submit a bid on as large an order as they can fill within a specified time.

The manufacturer must also make a statement on the size of his plant, type of equipment, number of employes, wage levels, working conditions, and other details about his methods.

At corps headquarters these offers are opened on a given day and hour, but not publicly as in the past. Instead, the quoted prices will be kept confidential until the orders have been allocated.

Each corps abstracts the bids submitted and makes a report to the quartermaster general in Washington. There the awards are decided on the basis of lowest price—plus consideration of speed of delivery, labor standards, local conditions and other military factors. Thus, while price is important, it is no longer all-important in making the awards.

Procurement experts predict that the new system not only will speed up deliveries, but also will eliminate many bottlenecks by dispersing production, build up local industries and raise the general level of labor standards, since plants with the best standards will be given preference.

On the basis of orders already granted under the new system, experts say costs will be no higher than under the old procedure.

Winning Isolationists.

VERY quietly, the administration is waging a campaign to win over Midwest isolationist sentiment. Most striking feature of this campaign is the distribution of the Bullitt speech given at Independence hall in Philadelphia.

This distribution has now reached the amazing figure of 2,384,000. It was done by using the congressional frank of certain senators who wanted the speech circulated. The printing was done by the government printing office, but the bill was not paid by the government.

After his speech, Bullitt received no less than 9,000 letters and telegrams, with unsolicited contributions totaling more than $6,000. This paid for distribution of the speech. The mailing lists were made up largely of RFD names, a tactic which met the approval of Secretary Hull.

Three people saw the Bullitt speech before it was delivered. One was Stanley Hornbeck, state department adviser on Far Eastern affairs, who urged, without success, that Bullitt tone it down. Another was Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress, who was elated with it. The third person was the president.

Note—Highlight of the Bullitt speech was the warning: "The United States is in as great peril today as was France a year ago. . . . Unless we act now, decisively, to meet the threat, we shall be too late."

Political Chaff.

OHIO'S genial Representative Tom Jenkins is quietly grooming himself to run for Floor Leader Joe Martin's post in the event the Republicans capture the house, when Martin would become speaker. . . . Overlooked in the surprise defeat of Arizona's veteran Senator Henry Ashurst was the fact that he was beaten despite the blessing of Dr. Francis Townsend, old-age pension czar. This is the second senatorial trouncing for Townsend this year. He opposed Senator Charles Andrews of Florida, who won by a thumping majority. . . . Prominent among the names listed on the letterhead of the American Writers for Wendell Willkie is that of Herbert Hoover, Jr. In Philadelphia, when GOP senatorial candidate Jay Cooke proposed to city leaders that Hoover be invited to make a local campaign speech, the response was a loud and emphatic "No."

On Strike.

HEFTY BILL HUTCHESON, veteran boss of the AFL carpenters union and for many years an influential leader in Republican campaigns, has quietly taken a walk on the Republican organization—but not on Wendell Willkie.

Hutcheson is still strong for Willkie personally. But he is quits as acting chairman of the GOP labor campaign committee.

Cause of the blow-up was a clash with Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, close Willkie adviser, who had his own ideas on how to win labor votes for the GOP. Hutcheson was in complete charge of the labor end of the Republican campaigns in 1932 and '36 and expected to occupy the same place this year. When he found he had to share authority with Willkie clubs and other individuals, not directly affiliated with labor unions, whom Stassen installed in the labor committee, Hutcheson "laid down his tools."

National Chairman Joe Martin tried to placate Hutcheson, but he refused to be honeyed.

"You'll have to get someone else, Joe," he declared flatly. "I'm through. I'm for Willkie as much as you are and I want to see him elected. But the election is only three weeks off and I can't possibly set up the kind of an organization that is needed to capture the labor vote at this late date. I mean an organization of real labor leaders, men who are known and respected in the labor movement—not Willkie clubs."

Mail Bag.

H. H. N. III, Clark's Summit, Pa.—The Japanese settled the Panay incident by paying to the United States an indemnity of $2,214,007. This was in April, 1938, four months after the attack on the Panay, December, 1937. . . . L. P. A., San Mateo, Cal.—Robert Montgomery is not an alien. He became an American citizen many years ago. As such he was wholly within his rights in introducing Willkie in Hollywood. . . . H. B., Grand Forks, N. D.—There is not much point in saving tin cans for the national defense, since "tin" cans are mostly steel. Articles containing tin are regularly salvaged and "detinned."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Not always, but usually, when the fogs of a new theatrical season on Broadway are fluffed away a new face or two stands revealed. Once it was Burgess Meredith, whom the critics quickly tagged "The Hamlet of 1940." That was five years ago. Again it was Katherine Locke, who gave promise of really being able to act. Two years ago it was Helen Claire, who was wonderful in a dialect role but who since has been condemned to obscurity because only occasionally do rich Alabama accents fit into Broadway dramas and comedies.

Such newcomers are the rookies of the theatrical league. The appearance of each rookie means the professional death of a veteran. There are, after all, only so many plays that can be produced.

But this year the tables seem to be turning. So far we have had two honest smashes on the street that has been called so aptly the Rue Regret. Both are musicals. Both marked the return of old timers, long believed washed up on Broadway. They are Al Jolson and Ed Wynn. Their gurgling foolery evoked valentines from the hard boiled reviewers—"drama assassins," as Winchell calls them.

FRED ALLEN'S party, which celebrated his return to the airways, was in many ways similar to his scripts. . . . It just went around in circles and everybody had a wonderful time without knowing why. . . . Between the salmon and the waldorf salad I overheard Frankie Farrell, Broadway editor, explain why he hadn't made the junket to South Bend for the premiere of the Knute Rockne picture. . . . "It's like this," said Frankie. "I've got two stories to write, and after I get those out I've got to sign up for the draft."

The restaurant business at La-Guardia airport has been given a lunging stimulant by the advent of stratoliners. Scores of people find it pleasant to drive out for dinner and watch the big new ships come in.

I am glad to note that more and more women about town are wearing flowers in their hair. . . . Flowers make a woman look feminine, which is something they always don't, in this streamlined age.

COLONEL STOOPNAGLE, studying up on his p's and q's, has issued a new alphabet for the approval of Broadway's children. The "Q," he says, really used to be an "O." One day somebody accidentally hitched a pig tail to it and then somebody else cried "How cute." . . . So they shortened the "cute" to "q."

The "U," he points out, "is really a long straight line, like this "—," which got bent, but shouldn't be confused with "You," even if you are bent. "Personally," he goes on, "I am broke."

Jimmy Lunceford, the negro orchestra leader, is now a licensed flying pilot. . . . There are said to be no more than 20 negroes in the United States holding pilot licenses. . . .

Today our what-they-did-in-their-teens department includes: Wally Beery, who used to work as a section hand . . . Meyer Davis, who started in as a police reporter . . . Jane Froman, who formerly earned her living as a law clerk . . . Jimmy Cagney, who used to be an office boy for a New York newspaper . . . Jimmy Van Heusen, who spent six months operating a freight elevator . . . and Producer George White, who learned his Broadway as an upstart Western Union messenger boy.

TODAY IN HISTORY

October 18, 1892 marks an important date in the history of telephone development. It was on this day that the first long distance line was established between New York and Chicago.

A Farmer's Diary

Old-Time Family

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WHEN I first knew them,—more than 30 years ago—he was a farmhand, somewhere in his twenties, and she was a buxom, teen-age country girl, who played the organ at the red brick country church. He took her home from church with his horse and rig and the first thing the neighborhood knew, they were married and settled down upon a share-tenant farm, to rear a family.

I remember how they looked—young and fresh and very happy,—the Sabbath after their marriage. She wore a white dress and hat, with flowers on it. He was neat, dark and handsome.

On occasional visits to the neighborhood, after that, I heard it said that he was a good worker, and that even with all those little tots, and a new baby every other year, she still wiped up her floors by hand. Then I left the community, and heard of them no more.

Recently, in this column, I wrote about my own back yard. Soon afterward, a card came, inviting my wife and me to visit these old friends who have now bought a farm within driving distance of our own. We went and looked them up.

They have fourteen living children, the youngest seven. If rearing a superior family is a measure of success, they are among the most successful folks I know. We sat in the living room of their farm home, a very old room, with solid walnut woodwork and doors three inches thick, and listened to a vocal duet by the two youngest girls, accompanied at the piano by their older sister. One of the married daughters was at home with the newest grandchild, an eight-pound baby girl. The grandfather showed it, proudly. "I still like to get my hands on a tiny one," he said. "My wife and I've raised 14, but we never can keep a baby. They grow to fast."

We went to see the flowers in their backyard. It was a neat-clipped grassy slope, vivid with colorful bloom—a zinnia hedge, a great bed of mammoth dahlias, clumps of ageratum.

At one side arched an old pear tree—one of the largest I have seen. "It used to be a junk heap," said the mother, "leading the way to a pool at the foot of the slope. It doesn't suit me yet. Next year I want to get a fireplace built and plant roses beside those arbors—and maybe a picnic table. I'm sorry my nasturtiums frosted. They were a wonderful sight—even though they're so common."

I thought of Burns' lines from A Cotter's Saturday Night, "From scenes like this old Scotia's grandeur springs"—

They aren't young any more. Her hair is gray, he is stooped and worn by toil. But I wondered, after all, who is richer than they in hope, in memories, and in sense of real accomplishment.

Battery D Ready to Leave for Camp at 2 a. m. Monday

SUPPLIES ALL PACKED FOR 934-MILE TRIP

'Vacation' Idea Fades When Camp Schedule Arrives,' It's To Be 'Tough.'

If the men and officers of Battery D, 134th F. A. had any idea that the trip to Ft. Shelby, Miss., would be a vacation tour they changed their minds today as the schedule of the trip was announced.

Capt. R. J. Nichols, commanding officer of the battery, said that everything was "set" for the motor caravan and that the personnel has been ordered to report to the armory at 2 a. m. Monday morning for the start of the 934-mile trip. All food supplies have been purchased in Mansfield except the foods that cannot be packed.

Here's the routine for National Guardsmen when they reach Camp Shelby, Miss.:

5:45 a. m. turn out for reveille, breakfast and general policing.

7:30 a. m. Drill and instruction.

11:30 a. m. Fall out for lunch.

12 noon. Luncheon.

1 p. m. Back to drill.

5 p. m. Drill ends.

This drill schedule is for five days weekly with four hours on Saturday.

The men and officers of the unit will attend church at First Lutheran next Sunday at 9:45 a. m., at the invitation of their former chaplain, Rev. Grover E. Swoyer. After the services they will be at liberty until 2 a. m. Monday.

The motorized unit, with field equipment, 63 men and five officers will leave the armory at 3 a. m. on orders from regimental headquarters. The first day the caravan will drive 330 miles to Ft. Knox, Ky.

The second day's driving will take them 216 miles to Lawrenceburg, Tenn., and the third day 229 miles to Macon, Miss. The fourth day the unit will drive 159 miles to Harriesburg, Miss., and Ft. Shelby, where they will be encamped for a year's training.

En route, the men will sleep in tents and meals will be prepared in the field kitchen.

These last few days before leaving home, the battery is engaged in teaching the rudiments of drilling and military training to the 30 new recruits that have been taken in as replacements within the past few weeks.

With physical examinations out of the way and general inspection completed, the movement of approximately 9,000 Ohio National Guardsmen for Ft. Shelby began in earnest today.

Advance units already had left to prepare campsites, and today Major General Robert Beightler, commander of the 37th Division, will leave with his staff. While the peace time strength of the division is 9,000, Gen. Beightler said today that it would be swelled to 18,000 soon after Dec. 1.

"Conscripted men will fill our ranks to full war-time strength," he said today. "The draftees—and they will be from Ohio—will begin to arrive in camp about Dec. 1."

The entire 37th division is expected to be in camp and ready for training by next Thursday.

STILL MISSING

Police Asked To Search For Mansfielder: Clue Fails.

Police today continued their search for George Bernhard, 28, reported missing today by his wife, who said that he had left his home, 42 Blanche street, early Sunday morning and she has neither seen nor heard from him since.

Possibility that a man suffering from amnesia who was found at Upper Sandusky Wednesday and informed the selective draft workers that he couldn't remember his name or his address, was her husband was shattered today when Mrs. Bernhard was shown a photograph of the unknown man still being held at Upper Sandusky.

Bernhard was employed at the Office cafe and when his hours were up at 1 a. m. Sunday he and his wife were taken home by M. C. Matthes, proprietor of the restaurant. He disappeared sometime between then and morning according to friends.

Matthes said today that Bernhard appeared to be perfectly normal and showed no signs of worry or stress when he left them out at their home.

GETS $25 FINE

Victor of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio laws today cost R. N. Barker, of Lucas $25 and costs, when he appeared in municipal court on a charge filed by Marion T. Watts, district investigator for the commission.

Barker was arrested for operating a truck outside the city limits for commercial transportation without a permit from the utilities commission. Watts said Barker had been using his truck to transport cinder blocks for the Cement Products company of Mansfield, delivering materials outside of the city.

OFFERS GIFT OF PARKING METERS

Canton Firm Wants to Give Mansfield 75 of Them For Testing Purposes.

364 already contracted for prove satisfactory to citizens. City council approved the installation of 500 meters last month.

The Canton meter, which was offered to the city for $33, provides only for single penny and single nickel time, while the Mico meter, which officials selected and signed contracts for yesterday are multiple penny and nickel machines. The price on these is $49.50 and includes free service by the company for nine months, which will make the net price about $45.50 a meter, Locke said.

If the Canton concern's proposition is accepted, Locke said that the meters would probably be installed on a street outside the congested district.

MANSFIELD POETESS HONORED AS SCHOOLS MARK POETRY DAY

Ohio Poetry Day was observed by Mansfield school children today, with a number of programs honoring Helen Loomis Linham, Mansfield poetess, being held in schools throughout the city.

Friday, Oct. 18, was designated this year by an act of the legislature as "the occasion for special observance and study of poetry in the public schools of the state."

At Mansfield Senior high school a program of poetry was read over the school's radio at 11 a. m. Included on the program was the following poem by Helen Loomis Linham:

Frost Tonight.

She gathered late blooms all the autumn day,
And filled the house with flowers everywhere;
She gave bouquets so lovely red and gay
To neighbors, and to children playing there;
Then raked the russet leaves and piled them high
Above some vines, and put some papers, too,
On just a few buds much too young to die,
And wondered what the frost that night would do.

The Wind whipped roses in her faded cheeks,
And tossed her skirts about, and one stray lock
Of snowy hair; she thought not many weeks
Before I'll have to fill the earthen crock
With soil for early seed, then out of breath
And very tired she softly wept at death.

Poetry programs, including some of Mrs. Linham's verse, were also held at Brinkerhoff grade school, Carpenter school, Prospect school, and West Fifth Street school.

C. C. Secrist was in charge of the program at Brinkerhoff; Mrs. John Correll at Carpenter and Prospect schools; and Mrs. Kathryne Bancroft at West Fifth Street school.

6 FROM COUNTY WIN PAROLES

5 Men, Woman Get Releases From Prison Farm and Ohio Reformatory For Women.

Five men and a woman from Richland county were granted paroles today from the London prison farm and the women's reformatory at Marysville.

First to be released will be Elma Ramsey, Mansfield, who will be freed Dec. 2 from the Marysville reformatory. She is serving a one-to-10-year term for perjury. She entered the institution March 7, 1939.

Scheduled for release next Jan. 2 are Robert Ryan, Kenneth Wheatcraft, Francis Shaffer, and Truman Thomas, all serving one-to-three year terms for non-support. They were sent to the penitentiary Nov. 4, 1939.

R. W. Warcham, another Richland county prisoner, will be conditionally released Dec. 15 to Coshocton county officials, if they no longer want him, he will be paroled Jan. 2. Sent to the penitentiary Oct. 30, 1937, he is serving a one to 15 years for assault with intent to rob.

The state pardon and parole commission also paroled Joseph "Specs" Russell, who was charged with more than 50 robberies in the Cleveland area in 1927. He will be freed from the London prison farm Jan. 2.

He was paroled once before, but the parole was rescinded after it was learned he had smuggled liquor and narcotics into the penitentiary.

The board said former Sheriff William Grall of Loram county, serving a sentence for accepting a "protection" bribe, would be given a parole hearing next month. Joseph Balestino, convicted of giving Sheriff Grall the bribe, will be released Oct. 1, 1941.

attack since the start of the aerial blitzkrieg.

While bombs were scattered over wide areas on London's outskirts, however, few fell in the capital.

Besides the London area, points hardest hit included the important shipping center of Liverpool and an unnamed town in the Midlands. The government said generally casualties and damage were small.

The raiders came earlier in the night than previously and stayed overhead throughout, about eight operating at a time, in contrast to the former tactics of 100 or more planes in an opening rush, followed by small waves.

Germany's use of fast fighter-bombers, the press association said, "will have the effect of hurrying into action our latest types of planes."

While Nazi night raiders ranged over England, striking especially hard at Liverpool, the Nazi-held "invasion coast" on the French side of the channel was subjected to such naval bombardment that the reverberations rolled across the narrow stretch of water like thunder.

Observers on the Kentish coast at first thought this was due to air bombing but authoritative sources later attributed it to naval shelling. Details of this action were not immediately available.

Four German planes were said to have been downed yesterday, to three British fighters lost.

The press association said the night attack on Liverpool and other Merseyside areas was "one of the most widespread" in some time, but added that "this aerial campaign misfired somewhat, damage and casualties being but slight." A hospital and a school were reported hit and one patient was reported killed at a sanatorium struck by a bomb.

Italians Bomb Egyptian Bases

ROME —(AP)— The Italian high command announced today further air bombardments of British defensive positions in Egypt, including air fields at El Daba, Matruh and El Di Kheila near Alexandria, as well as on British forces along the road between Matruh and El Daba.

Rents Room, Then Leaves With Purse Containing $70

A man who rented a room and paid two weeks rent in advance is believed to have ended the deal with a good profit, according to a story told police today by Mrs. Rose Rutan, 94 East Fourth street.

Mrs. Rutan said the man had rented the room and had paid his rent in advance. She went to another part of the house and when she returned her purse, containing $70, including the room rent, was gone along with the roomer.

Three other thefts were reported to police this morning. A dump truck was stolen last night from the lot of the Firestone Service station, South Mulberry street, and C. H. Brown, proprietor of the Court hotel, 105 North Main street, told police that a postage stamp vending machine had been taken from the hotel lobby sometime yesterday.

A floor mat and a foot accelerator were taken out of a car belonging to Carl May, 445 Lily street, sometime before 9:45 p. m. Wednesday, May told police.

HEAVIER FROST

It'll Be Fair, Colder Tonight But Warmer Saturday.

Fair and colder, with a threat of heavier frosts tonight is forecast by the weather bureau, with the direct opposite in store for Saturday—warmer and cloudy.

This morning a stiff cold wind made top coats comfortable, and during the night the thermometers dropped to 34 degrees. Yesterday's sun was bright but there was a nip in the air and the mercury never went above 59. Today it was 44 at noon.

Yesterday afternoon heavy clouds suggested snow, but only a slight rain resulted with .07 of an inch precipitation.

Sought for Year, He Surrenders to Richland Sheriff

Sought by Richland county authorities for nearly a year and a half, Melvin Morgan, 22, of Jeromesville, walked into Sheriff E. P. Long's office at the county jail this morning to face a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Morgan said he went west after a "party" in a tourist cabin on the Ashland road May 29, 1939 in which three girls, 16, 17 and 19 years old, were involved. He said he came here after Sheriff Dale Hammond of Ashland county told him authorities here wanted him.

Morgan and two other youths allegedly bought beer for the three girls and took them to the cabin for immoral purposes. One of the youths, Henry Hoaglund, was convicted in county juvenile court and served six months in the county jail. The other was placed on probation.

Morgan was to be taken before Probate Judge C. J. Anderson this afternoon. The youth admitted to officers this morning that he was at the party, but he denied having improper relations with the girls.

GERMAN BARGES HEAVILY BOMBED BY RAF FLIERS

Air Ministry Admits Invasion Thrust on Sept. 16 Turned Back By Britain.

made, British air ministry announcements frequently referred to heavy damage inflicted on barges and other ship concentrations in the German held channel ports by the R. A. F.

The actual number of German troops involved in this first invasion attempt is not known, but it was thought that it must have been a large number.

Military observers have estimated that it would take at least 100,000 troops to effect a successful landing on the English shores. However, it was considered doubtful that anything like this number had actually embarked on the attempt repulsed so swiftly by the R. A. F.

Nazis Describe 'Naval Victory'

BERLIN — (INS) — One British warship was torpedoed at the entrance to the Bristol channel during a naval engagement between German destroyers and a British cruiser squadron, the German high command reported today.

Despite their numerical superiority, the British warships broke off the battle and fled after one of their number had been hit, a communique claimed.

"Planes were despatched in pursuit of the retreating enemy while German destroyers returned undamaged to their bases," the communique said.

Other naval activity in the vicinity of the British isles resulted in the sinking of one British submarine off the French port of Le Havre, the shelling of ships in the harbor of Dover, and the sinking of 75,000 tons of British merchant shipping by submarine and torpedo-boat action.

LONDON—(INS)—German claims of a naval engagement at the entrance of the Bristol channel were labelled "extremely fanciful" today by informed British government quarters.

Claim Success In Night Raids

BERLIN—(INS)—"Several hundred" German planes carried out successful night attacks on "war-important objectives" in London, an official Berlin announcement said today.

Numerous fires were observed in the British capital, the statement said, and one observation balloon and three barrage balloons were shot down.

It was believed in Berlin that about 350 or 400 planes participated in last night's assaults.

The announcement conceded that four German planes were lost.

According to German authorities the planes that attacked London during the night were attached to three separate German flying corps. But it was pointed out that this did not mean all the planes of the three corps were engaged in the attack.

Official quarters added that the numerical peak of German planes over London was reached several days ago, when approximately 1,000 machines flew over the city during a 24-hour period.

Balkan Crisis Nears Show-Down

BUDAPEST — (INS) — Reports that British War Secretary Anthony Eden soon will proceed to Turkey from Egypt and that Rumania and Bulgaria may join the Italo-German-Japanese military alliance brought the Balkan-Near Eastern crisis closer to a showdown today.

Eden was said to be planning a visit to Ankara as soon as he completes his inspection of British defenses in Egypt.

Simultaneously Britain prepared to evacuate her nationals from Bulgaria because of the Axis advance through the Balkans toward the Black sea. The British legation at Sofia was understood to have advised all Britons to leave the country.

During the past few days the Soviet envoy at Ankara has held talks with Turkish President Ismet Inonu and the Turkish chief of staff.

With large numbers of Russian troops stationed along the Rumanian border, Germany worked to strengthen her new position in the Balkans. At Sofia the German education minister, Bernard Rust, established a German scientific institute and Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff made a speech stressing Reich-Bulgarian friendship.

Greece completed arrangements to purchase 100,000 tons of Russian wheat for about $7,500,000. The Greeks also undertook to purchase a similar amount from Australia.

She did not say when the ceremony would be held. Both she and her fiance are working in a picture entitled "You're the One," on Paramount's lot.

Seriously injured: Men 4,178, women 3,529, children 675.

have started in 1933 when the banks were closed and the nation was in a financial crisis."

E. B. Kallmerten, Mansfield, 17th district Democratic central committeeman, introduced Lutz. John Correll, chairman of the program committee, presided at the rally. Approximately 1,400 attended.

Republican and Democratic organizations in the county announced a series of precinct and township rallies today.

Republican county candidates will appear at rallies in the Mifflin township Community house at 7:30 p. m. today and at 8:30 p. m. in the Union Rural school in Weller township. There will be speakers for the state and judicial tickets at both meetings.

Stephen M. Young, Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large, and Novelist Louis Bromfield will speak at a rally Saturday night in the First Lutheran church, Shelby.

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, spokesman for the New Deal, will make a lone Ohio address Tuesday night at a Democratic rally in the John Simpson junior high school auditorium here. He will replace former Ambassador Cudahy who was scheduled to speak.

Lieut. Governor Paul Herbert, seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, and Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, will speak at a G. O. P. rally Wednesday night at Republican headquarters on North Main street. The talks will follow a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Republicans will have township rallies Monday night in the Shiloh Legion hall and Adario Town hall. Atty. Stuart H. Cramer, Mansfield, will speak at Shiloh and H. L. Bigbee of Bellville at Adario.

At Ashland last night more than 200 attended a Republican rally which was addressed by Gilbert Bettman, candidate for the Ohio Supreme court, and Congressman Charles A. Plumley of Vermont. County candidates were introduced.

'PERSECUTION'

Vatican Broadcast Hits Nazi Treatment of Catholics.

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — The Vatican radio, in an English language broadcast for the United States, said today that Catholics of Alsace-Lorraine "are being tried in the fire of cruel persecution."

"There are about 2,000,000 people in these two provinces (formerly French, now occupied by Germany), and more than three-fourths of them are Catholics," the broadcast said.

"Today they are under the heavy rule of the Nazis who are using every means to indoctrinate them with the pernicious aberrations of their party's philosophy of life."

FAIRBANKS, Alaska —(U.P.)—A Boeing "Flying Fortress" was to leave today on a scheduled nonstop flight to Sacramento, Calif., a distance of about 2,400 miles.

Maj. Dale V. Gaffney and a seven man crew will carry engineering and supply data relating to cold weather flying experiments conducted at Ladd field here. It was indicated the bomber would continue from the army air corps supply depot at Sacramento to Washington, D. C., and Dayton, O.

SCHOOL HEAD FACES CHARGE

Missing Superintendent Wanted For Grand Larceny.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Homer B Woods, 50-year-old superintendent of schools at Pickerington, who has been missing since Tuesday, faced a grand larceny charge today in connection with the theft of a $200 trumpet from a Columbus pawnshop.

Columbus Detective John Phillips said that Woods last week admitted taking the trumpet and selling it to a girl in the Pickerington band for $45. At the request of Lancaster authorities, no charge was placed against him at the time but he was to have appeared in municipal court today for a hearing.

DEBATES ISSUE WITH WALLACE

GOP Nominee Asserts Private Capital Scared Out of Enterprise.

the Republican presidential candidate.

"The record shows that the volume of new productive capital issues for the construction of new plants and equipment floated by all American corporations from 1933 to 1939, inclusive, was less than the amount for the single year 1930.

"For the year 1939, new capital issues floated for the construction of new plants and equipment came to only $191,000,000, or less than one-tenth of the corresponding figures for 1930."

Willkie declared Wallace tries to frighten the American people by telling them that the Republican party favors free enterprise.

"By inference, he says that the New Deal is against it," the Republican nominee said, adding that "We are perfectly willing to have the American people make their choice on that basis."

Willkie's stop at the state capitol was scheduled before a quick campaign tour through the suburbs of St. Louis. In the latter city itself he received a noisy welcome yesterday afternoon by crowds which thronged the business district and threw confetti until the pavement was white.

At night he spoke to an audience which filled the 20,000 seats of the St. Louis Arena, adding to his prepared address to say that if President Roosevelt is re-elected, he believed American boys would be sent to Europe. In event of his own election, Willkie declared, no military force would be sent to the Old World.

Willkie called for "more and more and more" production to aid Great Britain, which he termed "the rim of freedom."

Leaving Missouri late today after a rear platform talk at Hannibal, Willkie will speak tonight in Springfield, Ill.

Bricker, Davey Trade Charges

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's gubernatorial candidates—Gov. John W. Bricker, Republican, and former Gov. Martin L. Davey, Democrat—continued their stretch drive for election today with multiple campaign speeches.

Bricker remained in central Ohio with appearances scheduled at Granville, Newark and Lancaster. Davey was to speak at Cadiz, Carrollton, Barberton and Akron.

Addressing Fayette county Republicans at an ox roast rally, Bricker yesterday asserted that his administration had "plugged the loopholes in the tax collecting machinery" and promised to keep them plugged if re-elected.

At East Liverpool, Davey accused H. G. Means, school superintendent, of "playing politics by instructing teachers to re-elect Bricker." Means denied the charge.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two Cleveland murderers, Joseph Dimarco and Anthony Grasole, asked the Ohio supreme court today to save them from the electric chair. The appeal automatically gives them a stay of execution, which was scheduled for Oct. 2.

The men were tried jointly and convicted of the death of Edward J. Erdody during the robbery of his fur store last Jan. 21.

LAST-MINUTE TALKS SLATED

FDR Booked at Cleveland on Saturday Night Before Election Date.

change would put him in Baltimore the same day that Wendell L. Willkie is scheduled to speak there.

The president said that was good.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement started out with a reminder that in his address accepting the third-term nomination last July 19, he had said he would have neither the time nor inclination for purely political activity but would never be loathe to call the attention of the American people to deliberate or unwitting falsification of fact.

The president volunteered the information to reporters that for the benefit of certain peoples' ethics, the trips on which he will speak would be paid for, obviously, by the Democratic national committee, although he said some of them would include additional inspections of defense works in the vicinity of the points where the addresses are scheduled.

The chief executive, who has made only one politically-sponsored address since his renomination at Chicago in mid-July, gave a hint of the nature of the speeches in a message to a Pittsburgh Democratic rally last night.

"There has been so much deliberate misrepresentation in this campaign," he said, "I am determined to correct these misrepresentations and give the true facts to the people."

The message to the Pittsburgh rally recalled Mr. Roosevelt's statement in his third term acceptance speech. On that occasion, he told the Democratic national convention that he would have neither the time nor inclination "to engage in purely political debate, but I shall never be loathe to call the attention of the nation to deliberate or unwitting falsifications of fact which are sometimes made by political candidates."

With the exception of his politically-sponsored speech before the AFL Teamsters' Union convention—described by White House aides as "the labor speech of the third term campaign," Democratic leaders claim that Mr. Roosevelt has confined himself to "non-political" activities.

Republicans seized upon the announcement of the four projected political speeches as evidence that "Mr. Willkie has at last smoked out the president from his chosen role of studied disinterest in all that is political in this campaign."

State Committee Chairman E. F. Jaeckle of New York, who made that remark, also said that "very obviously the president has become alarmed at the upsurge of Willkie's trend and has decided to cast off the mantle of non-partisan camouflage."

In addition to the four speeches, the president's plans, it was learned, call for two or three more tours which White House aides said would be for the purpose of inspecting defense facilities.

The speeches, to be broadcast nationwide, will take Mr. Roosevelt into the hotly contested states of New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio—which represent a big bloc of 107 electoral votes. His other trips will be confined likewise to the thickly populated east.

Dems Prepare Welcome For FDR

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Democratic party leaders jubilantly prepared today for a whooping all-Ohio political demonstration here Nov. 2 at President Roosevelt's final public campaign appearance.

County Chairman Ray T. Miller boasted they would succeed in an attempt to out-do the recent rally for Wendell L. Willkie which Republican County Chairman George Bender pronounced the greatest in the history of Cleveland."

TWO HUNDRED TRUCKS RUMBLE ON BURMA ROAD

the last minute and announced re-opening of the route would be indefinitely postponed.

This announcement followed within a few hours a previous official announcement that the route would be re-opened today.

The British government in London was understood to have ordered the route re-opened along with the Burma road as a further symbol of Great Britain's defiant reply to Japan's action in joining the Axis powers.

Whether London ordered the postponement at the last moment or whether the local authorities here decided upon it was not known.

However, neutral observers here felt that if the route had been re-opened it would have prompted the young hot-headed Japanese militarists to blockade this British colony both from land and sea.

Japanese troops are known to be massed at Shumchum, a former tourist gambling village on the border of Chinese-British territory. It is considered certain that these troops would immediately attempt to isolate Hongkong from the interior of China if the Hongkong route was re-opened.

In previously announcing re-opening of the route, the British authorities said the ban would be lifted on the shipment of gasoline and other raw materials but that the ban against the shipment of arms and munitions would remain in force.

SPEED WORK ON DRAFT NUMBERS

Richland's 3 Boards Pushing Work to Have Cards Ready For First Call Nov. 18.

Ohioans who registered in other states are received.

In announcing the first call for men on Nov. 18, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said 800,000 men will be sent to training camps by next June 15 when the nation will have an army of 1,395,000 men under training.

While the draft boards were busy with registration cards today, the Ohio Congress of Industrial organizations asked President Roosevelt to investigate its charge that labor was not being given sufficient representation on draft and appeals boards.

John Owens, state CIO president, charged that "in many areas, boards are composed of non-residents of the districts and organized labor has been ignored or not given adequate representation."

RESCUED TRUCK OPERATOR DIES

Motorist Drags Driver From Burning Vehicle.

AKRON —(AP)— Death won out over the heroism of an Akron motorist this morning when the driver he dragged from a burning truck cab died in City hospital, six hours after a head-on collision on the Canton road, near the city limits.

The victim was Ed Grew, 45, of Brilliant, O., whose truck cab became a pyre as the fuel tanks exploded after the collision. Braving flames, Roy Wilson dragged the trapped driver to safety and sped him to the hospital.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Boys and girls of other days had lessons to learn and work to do the same as the children of today, and they also had a great deal of fun. Two families of other times are described in new books in the children's room. Younger girls will prefer the first book but older boys will like to join Jonathan Greenfall on his expedition in the second.

O HAPPY DAY! by Miriam Mason—Miney Glossbrenner was nine years old. She had two brothers and two sisters and their home was on an Ohio farm many years ago. Miney wanted most of all to be old enough to go to town to do the trading alone. She also tried in many ways to be helpful with the work at home but she so often seemed to get into trouble instead.

NO ROAD TOO LONG, by Hildegarde Hawthorne—When Jonathan was thirteen a party of pioneers left his home in western Missouri in search of that western wonderland of California. His father would not allow him to go until he was seventeen. The next four years were spent in his training for the hardships of pioneer travel and at last he had a chance to join Fremont and Kit Carson on one of their western journeys. These adventurers felt that no road was too long it it led to the land they were seeking.

Cop Abandons Investigation as His Own Tires Go Flat.

LINCOLN, Neb. — (AP) — Policeman Joe Offil hopped in a squad car to investigate reports that tacks were strewn on the streets in the business district, puncturing automobile tires.

But he retreated when two of his own tires went flat, and called upon the street department. Ten pounds of tacks were swept up after tires on 50 autos had suffered.

After Jury Heard Pleas of Non-Registrants

Shown leaving the federal building in New York City are students of the Union Theological Seminary who refused to register under the terms of the selective service. While a spokesman pleaded their religious beliefs which forbids participation in military duties before the investigating grand jury, other members of the seminary prayed in an incessant mumble. The outcome of their case will probably set a legal precedent for similar persons who refused to register because of religious beliefs

Is Oscar Levant's Face Ruddy? Even He Didn't Know It

NEW YORK (NS)—Oscar Levant (you know, the chappie who knows all about music on that radio program) wasn't so hot in the draft quiz staged by Uncle Sam

"Complexion?" asked the registrar.

"Swarthy," said Oscar.

Wrong, said the registrar. It should be "sallow." Well the interlocutor was wrong too. Another registrar, called in for consultation, gave the right answer. It was—

"Ruddy."

And that's the way it stands.

The honoree will leave the city soon for Camp Shelby, near Hattiesburg, Miss., where she will take up residence with her husband, who is a Second Lieutenant in the Ohio National Guard.

Bridge was the evening's diversion, and score prizes were awarded to Miss Willeen Treisch and Miss Jane Sowash. The group presented Mrs. McKnight with a shower of personal gifts and a shoulder corsage in honor of the occasion.

Following the games, luncheon was served at a long table, centered with a bouquet of autumn flowers and decorated with four lighted tapers and patriotic appointments. Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

MANSFIELD is well represented among the officers of the Ohio club at Sullins college for women, as Miriam Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight P. Smith, was recently elected vice-president of the organization, and Frances Ann Coffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Coffman, was named secretary. . . . Both girls are freshmen at the school and were initiated as members of that class last week.

Marianne

Speaking of college students, Joan Twitchell (who's a freshman at the College of Wooster this semester) has been selected to sing in the alto section of the college choir, according to Prof. N. O. Rowe, director of the choir and head of Wooster's Conservatory of Music. . . . Incidentally, this choir is one of the largest in northern Ohio—having 114 members, chosen from about 150 applicants. . . . Joan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Twitchell, left Mansfield recently to go to Minneapolis, Minn., where they are making their home.

When they made arrangements for a dinner party at the Alcove in Mt. Vernon last evening, 14 teachers from Mansfield Senior high school forgot that Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., was speaking in that city, and so were pleasantly surprised to find him and his party seated at the table next to theirs! Claude Blake, Pearl Danback and Ruth Dunham arranged the affair, while Beatrice McLees and Bertha Patterson won prizes in the evening's games.

* * *

It seems that winter vacation days are here already. . . . Mr. and Mrs. John B. Conard left this week for New York City, and they're sailing from there today for an extended sojourn in South America. . . . Mrs. Alma Hoover has gone to St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend the cold winter months. . . . Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Bacon have gone to Philadelphia, Pa., and plan to return early next week, bringing Mrs. Bacon's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Bowen, with them for a visit.

* * *

Back home again after a 7,000-mile trip to the west coast are Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Garber, who just returned from a month's vacation there. . . . They drove out to San Francisco, Cal., to see their daughter, Louise, who is editor of the "Bulletin of Practical Opthalmology," published by the staff of Green's Eye hospital, and she accompanied them on many side trips which included such places of interest as the Grand Canyon and Boulder dam. . . . And perhaps the Garbers passed Lena Reider en route, as she left this week to spend the winter in Southern California. . . . She's stopping in Kansas City, Kan., Albuquerque, N. M., and Denver, Col., on the way out, and plans to visit at the home of Mrs. Henry Schwartz (a former Mansfielder) in Los Angeles during the cold weather.

Although she lives in Plymouth, no doubt many of you know Marian Ruth Nimmons, because she visits here frequently at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Finfrock on West Third street, and so you'll be interested to know that she has pledged Delta Delta Delta sorority at Mt. Union college in Alliance this year. . . . She transferred there from Miami university where she was a freshman last year. . . . Oh yes, and her mother, the former Ruth Finfrock, formerly taught at the Senior high school here.

Gerald Bean, jr., returned this week to Norfolk, Va., where he is stationed with the United States Navy. . . . He was visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bean, sr., and sister, Miriam, for ten days—his first trip home since enlisting late in the summer.

* * *

MRS. J. W. LEISTENSNIDER received an important letter this week, telling her that her fine quality of needlework has entitled her to enter a nation-wide contest and compete for title of national crochet champion. . . . This will be the fourth of these annual contests, which name the national crochet champion and 43 "ranking crocheters" with only the most important examples of current American crochet considered in the final judging. . . . The contest is open to women whose crochet has won a first prize in a 1940 state, county or local fair, and so Mrs. Leistensnider is entering a luncheon set, baby's cap and bathroom set, which won prizes in this year's state fair. . . . Entries will be judged in November, with $1,350 in cash prizes to be awarded, and the national winner receiving a free trip to New York City or Bermuda. . . . By way of mention, Mrs. Leistensnider won a prize in this contest two years ago for a table centerpiece.

POST-NUPTIAL EVENTS FETE RECENT BRIDES

Mother, Two Sisters Give First Party for Mrs. H. H. McIntosh; Mrs. John Van Cura, Mrs. Harry Bowman Honored.

THE WOODS was the scene last night of the dessert bridge party given by Mrs. William Locke, Mrs. Robert Alexander and Miss Joan Locke, mother and two sisters of Mrs. H. H. McIntosh, the former Miss Geraldine Locke. There were five tables in play.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Bernard Mahoney and Mrs. McIntosh, and the hostesses presented the honoree with a gift.

A personal shower last night feted Mrs. John Van Cura, the former Miss Vivian Kisling, when Mrs. Dwight Prosser, Galion road, opened her home. Associate hostesses were the Misses Betty Green and Marie Ellen Campbell, and Mrs. Glenn Heldenbrand.

Contract rummy was played, and prizes awarded to Miss Maureen Walker, Bellville, and Miss Maxine White. The refreshment table was covered with fall leaves and bittersweet while a centerpiece arrangement consisted of a large and two small jack-o-lanterns, and lighted tapers. Each place was marked with a paper bag of appropriate Halloween candies.

Another post-nuptial affair held last night the shower given by Mrs. R. L. Beal, sister-in-law, and Mrs. J[illegible]n Carson, sister, in honor of Mrs. Harry Bowman, the former Miss Josephine Beal. The function was held at the Beal home, 326 Bartley avenue.

Games were played, and prizes won by Mrs. William Todd and Mrs. Martin Bonar. Alarm clocks ringing directed the honoree to her shower of gifts. The hostesses presented her with a bedspread. The 15 guests were seated at small tables for the serving of refreshments.

Miss Sauder Names Several Officers

Miss Wilma Sauder, recently elected president of Beta Kappa Tau sorority, appointed several new officers for the coming year during a meeting of the organization last evening in the club rooms on Park avenue west. She named Miss Marjorie Swanger, program chairman, and Miss Eleanor Star, society editor. Miss Ruby Bollman is the corresponding secretary, and Miss Louise Enderle, goodwill secretary. Miss Virginia Thrush will have charge of the collection of sales tax stamps.

The group formulated plans for a bake sale to be held at the Third Street Market on Oct. 26, with Miss Star, Miss Marjorie Ruhlen and Miss Holly Baker in charge. Miss Enderle is completing arrangements for a breakfast hike on Oct. 27, and the next regular meeting will be an event of Oct. 31.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was poignant anguish in Philip Veritzens' tones as he voiced his wish concerning Jack Leslie, but I told myself that I would have felt more sympathy for him if he were not apparently ignoring the evil to others which the return of Jack Leslie to America had wrought.

But I had no time for reflection. He was speaking again, and it behooved me to listen, for the "meat in the cocoanut" had not yet been extracted

"I remember seeing him once after his return," he went on. "He seemed grateful, told me if he ever could do me a service, he would. I dismissed him curtly, for naturally I had the strongest aversion to him, and for the ensuing year, my partial memory of which, as I have told you, I have lost from my life, I have no remembrance of seeing him.

"But I very much fear I did see him, and for some sinister purpose," he went on after the longest pause of any he had made. "He has dates names, places and incidents down too patly for him to have been able to fabricate out of thin air"

He stopped again, and with a glance at me, Lillian prompted him.

"You mean he has been blackmailing you, Phil?" she asked gently

"Not for money," he said quickly, as if it mattered. "He seems to have plenty of that."

"He would have," she murmured "The Chief says he is a clever criminal, and besides, he has mysterious and powerful backing from across the water The Chief is as sure of that as he is of capturing Leslie and making him forever impotent to harm this country or people in it"

"May that day come speedily!" Philip Veritzen said, and the words, as he uttered them, were a fervent prayer

"Amen!" Lillian and I said involuntarily together, but he went on, unhearing and unheeding anything save his own troubled thoughts.

"The first time, he hinted at blackmail," he went on, "was in a message he sent me from the jail where he was confined after his attempt to abduct Mary and his feigning of madness—you remember—"

"He said in effect then," Philip went on, "that he understood I did not remember much of what happened the year after he came back, that he could refresh my memory, and also tell what he knew to others, but that it would not be a pleasant process He said he didn't want or need any money, but he did want release from jail, and if I did not give it to him, he would tell what he knew, which he hinted was most discreditable."

"No wonder you engineered his escape, Phil," Lillian said "We always were sure you were behind him, but until this minute I never knew why."

"You both thought that?" he queried incredulously, looking at me.

"You hardly left us any alternative," I said quietly.

He digested that for a long second then squared his shoulders

"I'll get this over with quickly," he said. "I heard nothing more of Leslie until I saw him on the pirate ship, but there was no talk between us there. I knew, of course, that he engineered that brutal attack on Noel, but he did not get into contact with me. It was this morning that he sent for me."

"Yes A man, purportedly a telegraph messenger, but who, I found out later, had a stolen uniform and was a stranger in the town, brought me a message from Leslie, saying if I valued his continued silence I would meet him at a designated woodland spot within an hour."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Oct. 19.

While there may be sudden and disruptive situations to cope with on this day yet there are auguries of surprising successes with strenuous developments, the outcome of which depends upon a keen grasp of circumstances with due acumen and strategy. Shrewdness, diplomacy and subtlety, especially in transactions with groups, fraternities, political bodies or business corporations engaged in secret or confidential enterprises. Peculiar, strange or irregular circumstances may culminate in curious entanglements or intrigues.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves intrigued into a year of surprising, unforeseen and strange involvements, which may be complex and confusing. Relations with groups, secret organizations or large corporations of problematical purpose should be handled with shrewdness, finesse and vigilance. The prospects are not entirely portentous but call for sagacity, clever understanding and caution. Be wary with strangers and doubtful propositions.

PLAN LUNCHEON.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

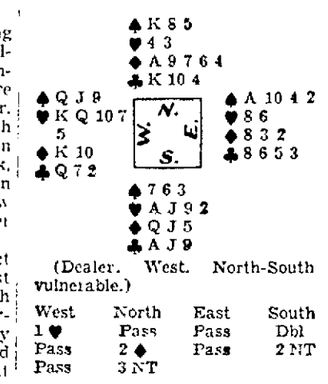
By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NOT THE RIGHT SPOT

THERE IS a right and a wrong spot for every artifice of the skilled cardsman. Plays that are eminently correct in one situation are utterly out of order in another. This is especially so of the "Bath Coup," the old tricky holdup of an ace when also holding the jack, which was supposedly first used in that cradling place of Whist, now in the hands of a non-bridge player named Adolph

West attacked this contract with the heart K. South had just recently learned about the Bath Coup, so decided to try it. He played low on the lead, hoping thereby to get a repeat of the suit and therefore two tricks in it. But West didn't fall so easily. He switched to the spade Q, and four tricks in that suit beat the contract.



(Dealer, West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

South should never have tried the Bath Coup here. The only times for it are those when a switch to any other suit would help the declarer, or at least could not harm him. But this was not one of those times To protect against danger in spades, he should have taken the opening lead with his heart A and then planned to finesse both diamonds and clubs toward East. From West's bid, it was pretty sure he had the threatening honor in each of his suits, in case he did not have the spade A If he did have the spade A, then that suit was not so dangerous and would produce a trick.

As it turned out, this method of play would have furnished five tricks in diamonds, three in clubs and one in hearts, making the contract without a risk of having the spade K led through at once.

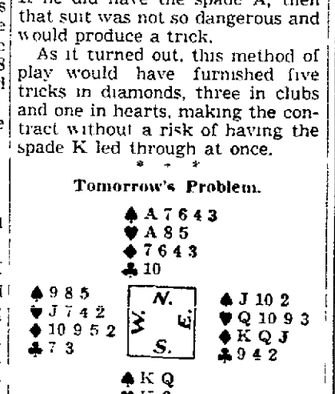
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer. South North-South vulnerable)

If you are all ready to bid 7-No Trumps on your next turn in the South, but West doubles your 5-No Trumps bid, should you redouble or go ahead and bid the big slam?

France Bars Jews From Participation In Public Life

THREE JEWISH GRANDPARENTS RULED LIMIT

Those In Public Service To Resign In Two Months, Vichy Decrees.

(By United Press)

VICHY, France—Two government decrees published today barred France's 150,000 native Jews from participation in French public life and some private activities and authorized the confinement in concentration camps of any of hundreds of thousands of foreign Jews if they opposed the "national evolution."

The decrees are applicable to all French territory including the colonies and French mandated areas.

A Jew is defined as one who has three or more Jewish grandparents.

Two "Jewish statutes" were published in the official journal and thus enacted.

The first barred Jews from the cabinet, the government departments, courts, national, regional, colonial and municipal, faculties of public schools and universities, the army, the navy and air force as officers, all subsidized public utilities, and executive functions in the fields of the press, the wireless, the movie trade and the theater.

Those Jews who now hold posts in the public service must give them up within two months.

Jews will be permitted to practice medicine and law, it was announced but in a proportion to the population to be fixed later.

The second decree fixes the status of foreign Jews and authorizes the creation of concentration camps in which foreign Jews can be interned by decision of departmental perfects.

Alternatively, foreign Jews may be assigned to fixed places of residence outside the camps.

Exception is made for all Jews who are war refugees, and Jews who have been cited in army orders in the recent war, who have won the military medal or who have been knighted in the legion of honor for gallantry in action.

Parade Planned As Highlight of 1-Mill Levy Drive

Plans for publicizing the proposed one-mill levy, with a parade as the highlight, were made last night by a committee headed by Herbert Slough, chairman.

The levy will appear on the Nov. 5 ballot and funds to be raised by it will go to police, fire park and recreation departments and for improvement of the municipal airport.

Under tentative plans as developed at the meeting, the parade will probably be held on Monday night, Nov. 4, the night before election day. Edward Wyllie, president of the Mansfield Public Park association, will be chairman of the parade committee, and A. L. Allen will be asked to serve as parade marshal.

Tied in with activities of the committee will be the Junior Association of Commerce "get out the vote" campaign. The J. A. C. is working under the slogan "Vote as You Please Nov. 5—but Vote."

Another meeting of the committee is scheduled to be held Thursday, Oct. 24.

When State Senator P. H. Rogers, of Lorain, was in Mansfield Wednesday for the train appearance of Wendell L. Willkie, he was observed to stop along Main street, take off a top coat and hand it over to Mayor William J. Locke, and the natural assumption was that the mayor was having a sudden chill. But the fact was that Rogers came to Mansfield without a coat, got chilled at the depot waiting for the Willkie train and the mayor obligingly gave the visitor his coat. Rogers was merely returning it after the speech.

You can't ignore youngsters and get away with it, a teacher in the Woodland school learned the other day. Overhearing one of her primary pupils use a naughty word, the teacher decided the best thing to do was overlook it and not make matters worse by scolding him before the rest of the class. After a few moments of disturbing silence, the teacher decided she had the matter well in hand. Just then, four or five first graders, unable to restrain themselves any longer, chorused, "Teacher, Johnny just used a bad word."

Since duck season opened Wednesday, the busiest telephone in Mansfield has been that of County Game Protector C. I. Kimmel. According to Kimmel practically every duck hunter in the vicinity has called him up, asking when the time of sunrise is on the day he intends to hunt. The calls got so thick that Kimmel has made arrangements for hunters to call the city police station for information, so he can get a little rest. Sunrise is the legal time each day for hunters to begin hunting the birds.

BANDIT-KIDNAP SUSPECT SOUGHT

Search In Southwestern Ohio For Man Who Escaped In Gun Battle.

SIDNEY —(AP)— Search for a bandit-kidnap suspect who escaped capture amid gunfire was pressed in southwestern Ohio today after his companion was taken into custody.

In jail was a man booked as Joe Hill, 29, Barlow, Ga., who police said confessed the kidnaping of Robert Young, 27, Tuesday night, and several other crimes in this area.

Hill was captured in a freight box car by police officers yesterday but his companion escaped despite several shots fired in his direction. Authorities said the two suspects boarded the box car several miles out of the city, unaware it was headed for Sidney where all trains were being searched.

The men are wanted for the abduction and robbery of Young, the abduction of Hamilton county Deputy Sheriff William Herper, robbery of Mid-State Gardens and two oil stations near Sidney.

Hill was said to have admitted kidnaping and robbing Young of $5 and a gold watch and taking $10 from the Mid-State Gardens. He also said that his escaped companion had the gun taken from Deputy Herper after the sheriff was tied to a tree and beaten in a woods near the Hamilton-Butler county line Tuesday.

ANN SHERIDAN ROUSES WARNERS BY CRUISE WITH GEORGE BRENT

(Copyright, 1940, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD — Suspended by her studio and scratched from its payroll, Ann Sheridan cruised off the coast of Mexico today with George Brent while her bosses looked for another oomph girl.

They had replaced her in one picture with Rita Hayworth, hurriedly borrowed from a rival studio, and said that if their Annie didn't come down from her high horse, she wouldn't be living here any more.

Whether Miss Sheridan would return to Hollywood as Mrs. Brent was problematical. Their marriage long has been expected.

The red-haired Ann, a creature of the studio press, if there ever was one, headed for the border a couple of days ago, after the Warners refused to raise her salary above the current $1,000 weekly.

Scheduled to star in "Strawberry Blonde," a picture ready to hit the cameras Monday, Miss Sheridan drove instead to Ensenada, Mexico, where Brent met her with his boat. They were reported to be cruising down the coast of Baja (lower) California and not worrying much about when they returned.

The Warners arranged with Columbia studios for the loan of Miss Hayworth to take the role and indicated that if their oomph girl didn't come back soon with apologies and promises of no more monkey business, they'd be in the market for another red head.

CONTRACTS LET FOR BUILDING OF WAR PLANTS

War Department Says Aircraft and Powder Factories Are Urgently Needed.

WASHINGTON—The war department is speeding its drive to establish a vast munitions industry and has allocated $550,000,000 of the $774,000,000 that congress provided for construction of arms plants, it was learned today.

Army officials said most of the contracts have been signed but not yet announced. Within the next few weeks it is expected that virtually all appropriated funds will be obligated under signed contracts.

Aircraft and powder factories are most urgently needed, officials said. Powder is regarded as the more vital since the destruction of the Hercules Powder company's plant at Kenvil, N. J., reduced the existing powder plant capacity by one-third.

Only two plants are producing gunpowder—the government owned Picatinny arsenal, Picatinny, N. J., and the Du Pont establishment near Wilmington, Del. Officials admitted that the situation would become serious unless powder output is increased quickly.

Contracts already have been let for construction of powder plants at Radford, Va., which will be operated by Hercules, and at Charlestown, Ind., which will be operated by Du Pont. Two more will be ordered shortly.

Production at the two existing plants has been stepped up but officials said it might be from 10 to 11 months before the first of the new factories will start operating.

Bates Warns Bike Licensing Time Growing Short.

Bicycle owners were warned today by Police Chief Meade K. Bates that they have but two days in which to get licenses for their wheels.

Pointing out that Nov. 1 is the deadline set for the licensing of all bicycles in the city, the chief said the tags would be on sale Saturday and on October 27 at police headquarters.

He said that only 600 permits out of an estimated 2,000 to 3,000 bicycles in the city have been issued to date. He warned that police would be instructed to pick up and impound all unlicensed bicycles found on the streets after the Nov. 1 deadline.

Tales From Times Square.

At Ben Marden's Riviera, the other evening, Harry Richman and his bride, Hazel Forbes, were enjoying a midnight snack when a gushing glamor girl dropped over to their table.

"I like your pompadour," Hazel complimented her.

"Darling, it's not a pompadour—it's a halo coiffure," corrected the g. g. g.

"So sorry," apologized Hazel. "Tell me, where did you get those stunning earrings?"

"My dear," chided the g. g. g., "these aren't earrings at all—they're earclips—you know, there is a difference."

"Oh, of course," yawned Hazel. "Well, anyhow, you look charming. Your ocelot-trimmed dinner gown is really something."

"Ocelot? Ocelot?" wailed the g. g. g. "It's not ocelot, at all—it's leopard."

Just then a six-footer hovered into view and the g. g. g. sneered, "Look at that big heel—he's my pet aversion."

"Heel, darling?" corrected Hazel. "When they're that big they're called wedgies!"

Milton Berle was amusing the Stork clubbers with the story of the conscientious sky-writer who was carefully spelling out "Zilch's Grape Juice" five miles off the ground.

Every letter, more than a mile high, was perfect, he felt, and upon completing the job, he flew back 12 miles to survey his work. Then, for the first time, he noticed that he had forgotten to dot the "i" in "Zilch."

Whereupon, he sulkily flew behind a cloud and spelled out: "Darn!"

Edna Sedgwick, the Ed Wynn dancing star, was a favorite at the Riviera, and from a letter from an old friend she relates the story that is funny enough to make them smile at the Lido in these times.

It concerns the captain of the British destroyer, on Mediterranean duty, who sat down to supper and discovered there was no butter.

He angrily raised his voice and called, "Waiter, WAITER, WAITER"—and, lo and behold, three Italian submarines came to the surface!

"Thank you," said the unknown, "and do you think I can get into the Stork without changing to dinner clothes?"

Davis said that he probably could.

"Splendid, splendid," enthused the gentleman, "and I suppose they'll serve champagne by the magnum as well as the quart, if I prefer it that way?"

Davis supposed they would, and said, "Is there anything else I can tell you?"

"Yes, there is," said the stranger. "Can you tell me how to get to the Bus ticket office?"

Bert Wheeler entertained Toots Shor's regulars with the story about the delicatessen shop proprietor who attended night school faithfully for many months in order to prepare himself for citizenship. Finally, the great day arrived and he appeared before a local judge to answer the customary questions before taking the oath of allegiance.

"Who becomes president if the president dies in office?" was the first question.

"The vice president," he answered.

"And if he dies," came the next question, "Who becomes president then?"

"The secretary of state."

"And if he dies, who—?"

"Look," interrupted the alarmed shopkeeper, "do all those people have to die for me to become a citizen?"

"I have too many messengers now," explained the official.

"But I can replace six boys!" argued the voice.

"All right!" said the cunning executive to the long-distancer. "If you're down in five minutes the job is yours."

He was still laughing four minutes later as he fed a hungry pigeon that had just alighted on the window-sill.

"What're you laughing at?" snapped the pigeon. 'Aren't I on time?"

"Fine," said the lad, "but, gee, I haven't seen you in more than five years. You must have changed—how will I know you?"

"Oh, you'll know me all right," Murnai reassured him. "I'll be the one who isn't wearing silver fox."
